Chem-Dry of Park City, a Utah based dry cleaning service, would like to announce that their upholstery cleaning services are now open for new clients. Regularly cleaning one's upholstered furniture can make a noticeable difference on its visual appeal and even how long it lasts. Information on the company's upholstery services can be found at the following link: <https://carpetcleaningparkcityutah.com/our-services/upholstery-cleaning.html>.

"You may not realize this or generally think about it but consider how often your upholstered furniture is used on a daily basis," says the upholstery cleaning service. "The kids coming home from school and forgetting to take their shoes off, family pets jumping on furniture, guests coming into the household and just the daily wear and usage of your furniture causes dirt, pollen, dust mites and other types of soils to gather and collect in your upholstery. Of course, the most beneficial reasons for furniture cleaning are health-related. When it comes to you and your family, you need to maintain clean furniture so irritants like dust mites cannot take up residence and multiply in your upholstery."

Dust mites and other pests grow and multiply rapidly in and on dirty furniture, which leads to them defecating inside whatever piece of upholstery they live in. Their waste is made up of allergens that can cause people to get sick. In addition to this, there are countless infections that can easily be passed from one person to another through dirty upholstery, posing a particularly significant threat to the elderly.

In addition to health concerns, Chem-Dry also encourages homeowners to think about the financial implications of leaving their upholstered furniture unclean. The company says, "Aside from the health issue, let's look at the financial issue: Consider all the upholstered furniture you have purchased for your household: Your living room, dining room, sitting room, bedrooms, rec rooms and more. That is a heavy monetary investment! When you invest in regular upholstery cleaning, you are literally extending the life of your furniture. Skipping regular furniture cleaning can cause the soil and dirt to take over and actually erode the fabric and the integrity of your furniture. This weakness will invite wear, tears and soils quicker."

The Park City cleaning service also offers carpet cleaning. Similar to upholstery cleaning, carpet cleaning is an important part of caring for one's home or any other furnished indoor space. Carpet stains can be incredibly difficult to remove on one's own, and attempting to do so without professional help can be quite ineffective, damaging the carpet and even creating a bigger mess. A professional can ensure that the job is done quickly and thoroughly. They can also clean deeply, reaching all the dirt and grime that one might not be able to access on their own.

As one of the world's leading carpet and upholstery cleaning companies, Chem-Dry uses only the finest and most powerful equipment to provide the best cleaning solutions. The company prides itself on providing quality service at a great price, and their excellent reviews show that their services have been very well received by their many clients. "I had never had my carpets cleaned before, but they were in dire need of it," one review says, "from having pet stains to dirty traffic areas all over. I called Chem-Dry of Park City, and they scheduled me for the next day. The technician was very personable and explained everything to me regarding how the process would work. Very polite young gentleman. My carpets are now clean, and I am a very happy customer. I will be using Chem-Dry of Park City for many years to come. Thank you so much!"

Another pleased client shares, "I have used other carpet cleaners in the past, and it seemed like my carpets just looked dirty again very soon after. After having Chem-Dry clean my carpets, they look the best they have ever looked! It's been a couple months and they still look great! I will be using them from now on. Thank you, Chem-Dry!"
