April 09, 2020 -

The Lancaster, California based AV Chiropractic Health Center has issued an advisory that they are able to provide emergency chiropractic care for those who are experiencing back pain, sciatica problems or joint issues. Emergency rooms and other urgent care facilities are overflowing with those suffering with COVID-19 symptoms, making them dangerous environments for anyone who requires attention for other conditions. As such, they advise anyone who needs treatment to call their customer service line in order to set up an appointment for issues that can be resolved through chiropractic care.

The clinic wants to ensure that their staff and those who attend are as protected as they can be during any treatment. They ask anyone displaying COVID-19 symptoms, or who believe they have been exposed, to make this fact known when they arrange an appointment in order to ensure that this is taken into consideration. Los Angeles County has nearly several thousand confirmed cases of COVID-19, and the community is pulling together to help break the spread as well as keep every vulnerable person safe. AV Chiropractic Health Center is one of the only clinics in Lancaster that provides chiropractic treatments, massage therapy, decompression therapy and brain based neurological Therapy (BBT) under one roof. AV Chiropractic is currently allowing only one patient in thier clinic at a time to protect from the coronavirus.

Dr. Wayne Hodges, speaking on behalf of the clinic, says, ?We know that this is both a difficult and stressful time for everyone. Stress alone can cause strain and tension in the mid-back. We are receiving calls from those who find they are experiencing significant back pain, often impacting their ability to relax and get enough sleep. Anxiety about COVID-19 and other issues can make the pain far worse. With this in mind, we have remained open for treatments to help patients avoid having to go into urgent care centers and emergency rooms. Even if the pain is intense and you know you need urgent treatment, give us a call first. We?ve been helping patients for over 30 years and have stayed abreast of the many advances in the chiropractic field so that we may deliver the best care available.?

The clinic accepts almost all insurance providers, including Blue Cross, Blue Shield, Kaiser, Cigna, Medicare, United Health, and more.

The clinic also publishes a wide range of informative articles through their blog, which are freely available on their website. One such article that will be of particular interest to those who wish to avoid using painkillers at present is their blog entitled ?Four Chiropractic Care Methods For Headaches.? People are generally advised to avoid relying on remedies obtained over-the-counter or through prescriptions. However, many are not aware that chiropractic care may be able to relieve their headaches and other ailments, depending on the cause. Those receiving chiropractic treatment have reported favorable results in terms of reducing the frequency, duration and intensity of subsequent headaches.

Those who visit AV Chiropractic Health Center can rest assured that the clinic will do their best to restore balance to each patient?s body and get the best possible results for their health conditions. Their emergency service provision covers any suffering from a new condition as well as chronic conditions. They can treat back and neck pain, insomnia, restless leg syndrome, sciatica, hand or foot pain, spinal stenosis and a host of other conditions, the full details of which may be found on their website.

In addition to providing emergency care, the AV Chiropractic Health Center wants customers who purchase the supplements they endorse to know that their recommended E-Stores are also available at this time. The clinic provides their patients with a 10% discount on all subsequent orders after an account is set up with Metagenics, which provides a wide range of supplements that meet a wide range of nutritional and dietary needs.

Dr. Wayne Hodges encourages those who need emergency chiropractic care to contact AV Chiropractic

Health Center directly rather than burden an urgent care facility or emergency room during the COVID-19 crisis. As soon as it is safe to do so, the Lancaster chiropractor will be opening the clinic to treat all their patients with their regular efficiency. The clinic invites everyone to connect with them through their Facebook page to stay abreast of their latest news, announcements and more.
