September 16, 2014 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Manila, Philippines -- DatesofAsia is a new dating and friendship website, focused on helping women in the Philippines find meaningful companionship and romance with men from all over the world. Through various communication tools and secure browsers, Filipina women can connect safely with potential partners and have fun.

The website offers different free channels of communication between members, like online chat rooms, the ability to post up to 10 photos on one profile, instant chat, webcam chat, and sending and receiving messages.

Not only does DatesofAsia help singles discover love on the site through various means of contact, but the site also has a blog section filled with articles on online dating and personal dating advice. Articles like "4 Reasons Western Men Love Asian Women" and "Online Dating: Another Opportunity To Meet Someone?" will help members gain a more in-depth perspective on prosperous Filipina dating in the internet age.

Some of the blog posts also guide singles on building successful online dating profiles that will turn heads. For example, the blog post "Profile Photo Advice" gives tips on how to make each type of picture (close-up, full body, etc.) attractive, which would add to a quality profile. Another blog post, "How to Make a Good Dating Profile That Can Stand Out From the Crowd," walks members through the do's of creating a good profile using an attractive picture collection and the right information.

DatesofAsia respects its members with its stronger privacy protection and cautions against scammers that try to take advantage of people. The site's actions help maintain an enjoyable user experience. The website tolerates neither abuse nor disrespect between users. What's more, the site's staff ensures that members are who they claim to be in their profiles, and censors profiles for inappropriate content. As part of the free account setup, potential users must supply a valid email address for verification. DatesofAsia never sells any personal information, unlike some of its competitors.

The site's popularity is growing, with over 32,400 singles from around the globe using DatesofAsia. Women can set up their free account on www.DatesofAsia.com. All users have the option to upgrade their account for additional benefits, like sending more messages each day. Visitors can also search for singles to connect with.
