April 13, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

O'Fallon, Missouri based HBP Painting Contractors is pleased to announce that they will practice enhanced safety measures as they continue to offer exterior painting services during the COVID-19 pandemic.

As noted on the company's website, exterior painting can be carried out with respect for both their customers' and employees' safety, even during the COVID-19 pandemic. The enhanced safety measures they have put in place include wearing respirators, latex gloves, maintaining a 6-foot distance between personnel, conducting a wellness check-in by phone each morning with their employees/customers and encouraging "air High-5s" for morale. The painting company also uses phone applications such as Facetime and Google Hangouts as well as the use of photos and videos to discuss the project in detail. HBP Painting Contractors is not working in occupied homes and businesses at this time but is still able to discuss and plan for projects in the near future.

Furthermore, HBP Painting Contractors also accepts credit cards, ACH and Apple Pay as modes of payment, so there is no face-to-face interaction required. These measures ensure that exterior painting can still be done safely during these trying times.

“Exterior painting is important and worth more than just aesthetic appeal. It serves as a protective coating that prevents your building from weathering and rotting. Delaying exterior painting, even during times like these could lead to more expenses down the road,” says Cody Hartrum from HBP Painting Contractors. He adds that the company offers free consultations to gauge the scope of a given job, discuss the client’s goals and expectations and answer any questions they may have. “If you are unsure about the paint color, paint type or have any other concerns, we are here to help you, step-by-step. Based on your ideas and specifications, we will determine the best course of action to get it done and provide you with a reasonable quote,” says Hartrum.

He asserts that, once the quote is given, HBP will do everything necessary to make sure the project is completed on time, on budget and without unnecessary inconvenience. HBP will conduct inspections on the exterior of the home for seams and caulk any gaps or cracks that could prevent the paint job results from being exceptional. When the preparation is done, the painting will then take place, using only premium paint and materials. After this stage, a quality inspection will be conducted to make sure that the end-product meets the client’s goals and expectations.

As noted on the company’s website, no matter what the customer’s vision may be for their home’s exterior, HBP can make it a reality. HBP Painting Contractors has built a reputation for high standards and quality workmanship, handling residential exterior painting projects for over 30 years. From the initial meeting to the completion of the project, HBP will make sure that the experience is pleasant, the customer’s expectations are met and that the work is completed on time.

HBP Painting Contractors is dedicated to providing outstanding painting services to both residential and commercial clients. Richard Hartrum founded Hartrum Bros. Painting in 1983 and, over the years, Hartrum Bros. Painting grew and came to be known as a painting business that can be trusted to do an exceptional job at a fair price. Now, after 25 years, Richard’s sons, Cody and Zach, have taken the helm under the new name HBP Painting Contractors. They continue to provide exceptional service, high-quality workmanship and dedication towards an excellent customer service experience.

Lyndsie Tyler, in a 5-Star review shared on the website of HPB Painting Contractors, says, “HBP Painting was out to my house the next day, after I called, to give me an estimate. Prices were very reasonable. They were able to get me scheduled quickly. They worked fast and efficiently. I’m pleased to say my house looks beautiful. Wish I would’ve called them years ago. They were even able to install a light fixture for us, plus they swept my floor. Everyone from the office to the contractors were extremely friendly and accommodating. I would highly recommend HBP painters to anyone, you won’t be disappointed.”

Meanwhile, Julia Mathenia, in another 5-Star review, says, "Cody and the team at HBP are true professionals. I contacted them for a quote to finish and paint my garage. Cody came out and went over the entire process with exacting details and timeline. He took the time to work with me on selecting a color that would enhance my new garage flooring. They completed the job on time and cleaned the entire work area upon completion. A professional and diligent business. Contact them if you want a professional paint job at a great price."
