April 15, 2020 -

The Duluth GA Law Office of Kenneth S. Nugent wants the community to be aware that its services are still available during the COVID 19 crisis. For many years the company has worked to streamline its processes, and to take steps to secure its clients? privacy and the security of case information. Now in this time of disruption, Kenneth S. Nugent?s still stands firm is ready to work with clients today and will be able to handle both new and existing cases.

?Although we much prefer to visit you in person,? said Tim Derrickson, a spokesman for the firm, ?during these unprecedented times, we are utilizing our electronic sign-up and our secure Client Portal for sharing sensitive information ? and using our digital resources, including our website and social media, to serve and inform our clients. So we are conducting business as usual, with some included safety precautions.?

The company is still offering its services as it normally would, but they recognize that it is impossible to do business the usual way so they are taking proactive steps to make both staff and clients as safe and as secure as possible. Mr. Derrickson said, ?We know that people are hesitant to visit a firm in person right now because of the virus. Because of our COVID-19 task force and protocols that we have put in place, we can do most things via telephone and online. This way the clients stay safe, the staff stays safe, and the casework can continue.?

As one of the leading Personal Injury Attorney Duluth GA, the Kenneth S. Nugent firm has 43 lawyers on staff. They are famous for having the phrase ?One Call That?s All.? They have recovered more than a billion dollars, overall, for their clients.

The firm itself has several main practice areas. They include car accidents, medical malpractice, wrongful death, Workers Compensation & Workplace Injuries, Insurance bad faith, Dangerous products & premises, among many more. Their work is done on a contingency basis ? there is no fee unless the case is won. There are eight locations in the state to serve clients, during normal business operations. These include Atlanta, Macon, and Valdosta.

There is a secure part of the company?s website where clients can send information securely to the firm and vice versa. There is also a 24 hour ?digital employee,? on the site, called ?Amelia? that can be used to ask questions about COVID-19 and also about working with the firm.

As one of the foremost Duluth Georgia Injury Lawyers, the Kenneth S. Nugent firm is known for getting results, and the COVID-19 outbreak has not changed that at all.

A new client of the firm, Angelina Weir said, ?I was thinking very seriously about taking legal action right before the pandemic came about. I didn?t realize that any firms would be working with any clients remotely, much less that the Nugent firm would do so. I found out that I could get all the information I needed about the lawsuits without leaving my home or without asking any of the staff members to put themselves in any kind of risk.?

Ms. Weir continued, ?So my case is moving ahead already, and I know that not only has my interaction with them been safe but the information that I have shared with the firm is also safe and secure.?

People who are interested in finding out more can find all the information that they need on the firm?s website and through the chat opportunities with ?Amelia.? The website gives a very thorough look at the firm?s philosophy, the way that they work, along with the fact that they are one of the largest law firms in the southeast.

Most importantly, the firm?s website says, because of the work that they do ? ?Hundreds of families are able to find a way forward after tragic, life-altering events.? Mr. Nugent states that he has found that particularly rewarding, along with the fact that that the financial success that the firms have had which allows them to support local and other charities. The website has information about that and much more.
