The Clean Group, reputable commercial cleaners Brisbane, brings over 20 years of experience every time they show up to a job. The reason they believe they have been a successful business for so long centers around four key concepts that make for a good commercial cleaning service. Those who have been at the company the longest noted that once they started to apply these commercial cleaning company core concepts religiously is when the business really started to grow.

Suji Siv, the company founder, had this to say about this subject, ?I hate to admit it but when I first started my commercial cleaning services in Brisbane everything did not always go smoothly. As a matter of fact, there were some very stressful times when things did not go as planned. Like any company that strives to be successful, we learned to improve through trial and error. This is what eventually led us to recognize 4 key concepts that were starting to make our commercial cleaning business extremely successful. Nowadays we bring these essential concepts to every commercial cleaning job that we take on.?

Siv says that the first key to being a successful commercial cleaning Brisbane service is to have crews that are led by experienced cleaning personnel. He feels the importance of this cannot be emphasized enough. Experienced cleaning personnel set an example for the rest of the crew to do high-quality work. The company founder says that experienced crew members also have learned what areas in an office or other company building need the most cleaning attention. This helps them recognize that more personnel need to be assigned to those areas to get them thoroughly clean. He says this is why he makes sure all of his cleaning crews are led by cleaning techs that have worked in the business at a minimum of several years.

According to the company founder, it?s also essential that a commercial cleaning business use eco-friendly cleaning products. Siv says this helps keep his employees safer when working and a client?s employees and guests are not subject to the harsh smells and harmful residue that regular commercial cleaning products leave behind. He also noted that his company has gotten to the point where they now have several very effective eco-friendly cleaning products that they use that are just as impactful as any harsh, non-eco-friendly cleaning products. Siv says that because of this, he feels there is no good reason for any commercial cleaning company not to be using all eco-friendly cleaning products these days.

Siv also mentioned that it does not matter how well the eco-friendly chemicals a commercial cleaning company uses work if they do not have the right tools and equipment to apply them. He says that is the reason why he makes significant equipment expenditures for The Clean Group regularly. That has enabled all of their cleaning crews to show up at each job with state-of-the-art equipment. The company founder says that everything from the special brooms and lint-free cleaning cloths they use to the advanced floor cleaning machines is the best that money can buy.

The last core commercial cleaning concept that Siv says his company applies is making sure they offer their services at a very good price point. He points out that most businesses do not have the employee experience or the sophisticated equipment necessary to do outstanding commercial cleaning as his crews do. The company founder says that this will not matter to a company if a commercial cleaning outfit prices its services too high. He notes that by offering his commercial cleaning services at a budget-friendly price point, it makes using those services a win-win situation for his company and the client.

The Clean Group provides professional cleaning services for a wide variety of businesses. This list includes gyms, offices, childcare centers, medical facilities, and retailers. Siv says that for those who want more information on his company?s office cleaning Brisbane services, they are welcome to contact him by phone, email or by filling out the contact form on the home page of their website.
