

Columbia Maryland Roofing Company Celebrates 10 years of Business

April 27, 2020

COLUMBIA, MD - April 27, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Columbia, MD - Ridgeline Roofers is pleased to announce that they have reached a milestone of ten years as roofing contractors in the Columbia, Howard County area. The roofing contractor installs a variety of asphalt shingle roofs which range from thirty-year architectural shingles to elite designer shingles is a range of styles which will last for a lifetime. Since its founding, the company has been bringing reliability and hard work to each roofing project.

In a recent interview, a spokesperson explained, "We are high-quality GAF certified contractors. We use quality materials to get each project done. When doing any job, we ensure we leave the premise completely spotless. All the roof decking gets inspected and made sure that it is sufficient and meets requirements in order to get the best warranty for our client. Not only are our prices affordable, but we also work closely with each client to ensure the best price for their budget."

"Our dedication to each customer," he continued, "comes from our work ethic. The example of Stan's grandfather and his hard work is what formed the basis of the mission of Ridgeline Roofers.?

Clients get what they need, with no up-sell tactics. There are financing options available upon request. The company is best known for open communication with its clients. Ease of service and flexible scheduling are hallmarks of the company's philosophy. Deposits are taken shortly prior to starting the job rather than when the contract is signed. This practice is for the client's convenience.

Financing options are available to make things easier for customers and their budget constraints. Financing is proudly offered in order to relieve the pressure on customers, so they are not overwhelmed. Customers can buy today and pay off the costs of a new roof or roof repair over time.

A company spokesperson explained, "Whether you need your roof or gutters replaced, or your home has been severely damaged by unexpected circumstances and you need total restoration, our professional team has the experience and knowledge to provide solutions. We offer free estimates and in cases of emergency, we respond around the clock as needed. Our team consists of trained and certified service experts, who provide both residential and commercial service. We offer a customer satisfaction guarantee for your peace-of-mind."

"You benefit from working with us?" he continued, "for several reasons. Our guiding principles are integrity, dependability and quality. We are committed to delivering on our promises to all our customers. We strive to consistently provide our customers with the highest standard of work. We understand that our customers expect us to produce an industry standard quality with the services we provide and that is exactly what we do."

The updated website features several helpful tools, one of which is the factors to consider when estimating the cost of the roof. The first, and most important, is the size of the space to be covered. The larger the roof, the more material and labor that goes into each job. The roof pitch is associated with the steepness of a roof. Steeper roofs cause additional safety issues and are harder to install. Material costs will vary, depending on whether the surface is covered with metal, tile, shingles, slate or a combination. The cost of labor is affected by each of the other factors. The larger and more difficult the job is, the more labor is necessary to guarantee a top tier finish.
