COLUMBIA, MD - May 14, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Columbia, MD - Last year saw uncharacteristically harsh weather in Columbia and the surrounding areas as noted in an annual report from the National Weather Service. These atypical variations from the norm left a number of homes and businesses suffering in their aftermath. In an effort to help local property owners recover from the damage and gear up for a potential repeat of the last several months, a spokesperson for Howard County-based contractor, Ridgeline Roofers has launched the company's latest lineup of roofing products and services.

"Record-breaking snowfall and ice accumulation wreaked havoc on many of our nearby friends and neighbors during the winter months," said the company spokesperson. "Before they even had a chance to pick up the pieces, unusually heavy rainfall, strong storms and hail took their toll as well. We've built a reputation for providing the highest possible quality in the products and craftsmanship we bring to every project we take on, and our latest offerings are sure to carry on our tradition of excellence."

Ridgeline Roofers specializes in residential roofing solutions with a wide range of options available to homeowners in Ellicott City, Elkridge, Laurel, Columbia, Clarksville, West Friendship, Cooksville, and the surrounding areas. Among the services offered are roof replacement and repair as well as installation for new builds. Traditional asphalt shingles, clay tiles, slate and metal comprise the company's selection of materials with other choices also available.

Roofing can be tricky, sometimes when you're searching for flat roofing and pitch roofing services potential customers are bombarded with different choices to choose from, which can be a headache of a decision. Ridgeline Roofers make this decision easier by offering no-obligation quotes and advice on your project.

Commercial roof repair, maintenance and installation is also among the company's areas of expertise. Buildings in this category tend to have more diverse requirements in terms of roofing materials and types than those in the residential sector. Common commercial options offered by Tough Roofing include standard tar-and-gravel, EPDM and TPO to name a few.

Since opening its doors, the company has provided roofing materials and services to a wide range of clients in and around the Howard County, Maryland area. Past projects include single-family homes, apartment complexes, medical and educational facilities, shopping centers, restaurants and hotels. These structures encompass the full spectrum of roof styles and materials.

Concluded the spokesperson, "We pride ourselves in serving home and business owners with greater professionalism, dependability, quality and craftsmanship than most companies in our industry. This higher level of service is only one of the characteristics that sets us apart. Anyone in need of repairs, replacement, new installation or just a little extra piece of mind that their roof is capable of withstanding the coming seasons is invited to contact us for a free inspection and estimate."

Ernest Krebs, founder at Ridgeline Roofers, says: "Here at Ridgeline Roofers, we are registered with the Federation of Master Builders in addition to Trustmark Registered which ensures you will receive government-endorsed quality for all your roofing work. We offer several roofing services that are sure to meet all your needs and we only use the highest quality local materials within Dorset. Whichever roofing service you choose, you can be sure that Ridgeline Roofers will provide you with a free no-obligation quote for all your roofing work which includes parts and labour costs."

The new flat roofing Ridgeline Roofers service is already available today! You can find out more information at their website.

So as a welcome breath of fresh air, Ridgeline Roofers will be channelling over 100 years of trade knowledge into your project, which was passed down through generations of family builders. Ridgeline Roofers believes in their ability to satisfy their customers.

Ernest Krebs also said, "Because we are a family run business, we can ensure that you receive a personalised, tailored approach that keeps you satisfied with your roofing services. Additionally, all our roofing contractors are reliable; they will turn up to all appointments on time, complete your roofing project to schedule and will ensure that the mess and disruption to your property are kept to a minimum."

Ridgeline Roofers has been in business for quite some time now, being established 10 years ago. Since Day 1 it has always aimed to stand out from the crowd, while also providing its customers the best possible experience at the best possible value.
