McHenry Roofing is known for the best roofing services in the Hampden area. We are to be expanding our roofing services in Hampden to meet customer demand," says Joseph Conley, owner of McHenry Roofing. Rubber roofing materials are becoming more widely recognized as the preferred roofing material because it is not only aesthetically pleasing, but it stands up to the harshest weather challenges. We love that we are able to offer our customers the best array of products to choose from while providing quality installation and unparalleled customer service. We specialize in flat roofs, which is the top style roof in Hampden, Baltimore.

When he started in the roofing industry, McHenry Roofing's owner Joseph Conley really didn't know what he was getting into. He had visited a former employee who had relocated to Hampden to begin roof rebuilds following a harsh winter. His friend had more work than his staff could handle, so he gave Joseph a stack of customer leads and asked him to help out by going and talking to the homeowners. The rest, as they say, is history.

McHenry Roofing offers specialized roof installation solutions for owned, rental, and investment properties. Maryland roof installation and re-roofing solutions are tailored to design and budget needs. The Baltimore County new roof installation team is supported by a fleet of service vehicles.
