April 21, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Entrepreneur and business success coach Atif Javid from Bristol launched a website that has a treasure trove of useful content that could benefit any business entrepreneur wanting to achieve a new level of success in their business and personal life. The website features a new layout with easy access to information about Atif's MBA programme as well as his success advice blog posts.

More information about Atif Javid is available at: <http://www.atifjavid.com/about-atif-javid/>.

In the website's blog section, Atif published a post that encourages business owners to avoid getting into comfort zones that are addictive. These are routines and unproductive business habits which result in stifling ingenuity, modernisation, and business growth. Atif encourages and challenges entrepreneurs to avoid stagnation and take calculated personal and business risks to expand their business opportunities.

The UK business coach puts forward five useful methods to break out from the dreadful comfort zones:

Accept new challenges regularly, confront one's own fears, recognise roadblocks, undertake daring planning, and ensure permanency in taking action. Javid accentuates the need to take a vital first step towards personal and professional growth through continuous education, change, and execution.

Interested parties can follow Atif on his Twitter account: <http://twitter.com/atifjaviduk>.

Atif Javid offers his unique MBA (Mindset, Body, Action) programme to entrepreneurs seeking to attain the next level up in their growth. His 6-week intensive video coaching programme contains six one-to-one sessions designed to transform how entrepreneurs approach their businesses. These mentoring sessions are preceded by an application and an initial interview to determine an entrepreneur's programme suitability.

Atif's business mentoring website features highly valued coaching content based on his professional and personal experience as well as the insights that he has gathered from successful top achievers from around the world.

As stated by the entrepreneurship success mentor Atif Javid, "A rewarding part of my work is empowering entrepreneurs and business owners to achieve their goals. The most gratifying part is watching them become better all-around individuals."

Atif Javid is a personal and business success trainer, mentor, coach, and founder of four-time award-winning letting agency, Intire. Atif also owns and operates successful property investment and property development businesses in the UK.
