

Furnace Repair Vaughan Partners with Martino HVAC to Offer Heating Services in Vaughan

April 24, 2020

April 24, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Furnace Repair Vaughan, a furnace service provider based in Vaughan, Ontario, Canada, has announced that they have partnered with Martino HVAC in the provision of full service heating services in Vaughan and neighbouring areas. They are a provider of expert heating and air conditioning services to residents of Vaughan and nearby areas for almost 10 years. They have established a good reputation of providing high quality services and the best workmanship at reasonable prices, and they have an A+ rating from the Better Business Bureau. Meanwhile, Martino HVAC has been providing heating, ventilation and air conditioning services to residents of the Greater Toronto Area since 1987.

Jack Munroe, a representative for Furnace Repair Vaughan, says, "All our contractors have the best training in technical services and customer services. Whenever you call us, you can enjoy an inviting and unforgettable experience. We adhere to the quality audit program designed in our company to guarantee 100% customer satisfaction. Contact us now for any heating and cooling needs in your home. Over the years we have worked with hundreds of residents in Vaughan. You can join one of these people and enjoy 100% customer satisfaction."

He continues, "We have formed a partnership with Martino HVAC to expand our services and this is part of our goal of continuously improving on our services. Martino HVAC has a lot of experience in heating, cooling, indoor air quality, and ductless air conditioning. At HVAC Martino, they only hire only the most qualified and most experienced technicians in the area because they know that it takes years of education and training for an individual to become an expert HVAC technician."

Furnace Repair Vaughan has been an HVAC contractor since 2011 and they can guarantee high quality service and workmanship because they are focused on employing the best team in the industry. All of their contractors have been vetted and are assured to have undergone the best training in technical and customer services. They comply with a quality audit program that the company has established to guarantee 100 percent customer satisfaction. They have already served the furnace repair and installation needs of hundreds of homeowners in Vaughan. They believe that what makes them stand out among the crowd is their: prompt 24/7 service; offer of warranties, financing, and rebates; and professionally certified and trained heating and AC contractors.

They recommend that homeowners and other property owners in Vaughan enroll in annual furnace maintenance services to save on their furnace expenses. This is because they get to substantially decrease the need for furnace repairs because their furnaces are inspected on a yearly basis. There will be less money spent on furnace repair or even furnace replacement. The professional HVAC technicians who perform the annual inspection are experts in recognizing problems with a unit and they can provide the requisite repairs before the issue worsens and becomes more expensive to repair.

And because Vaughan can experience seriously cold weather at any time, Furnace Repair Vaughan offers emergency 24-hour furnace repair services. And despite the repair being done at possibly unusual hours, there will be no extra charge for after hour furnace repair services.

Jack Munroe wants to warn homeowners and other property owners in Vaughan that they need to be alert and to be cognizant of possible indications that a furnace may soon be breaking down. These signs include thermostat malfunctions, high utility bills, and weird sounds emanating from the furnace. If homeowners notice these signs, they should promptly call up a furnace repair expert so that their furnace can be inspected. If they delay it for too long, the furnace could break down at any time and this would mean more expenses, not to mention the higher energy bills, because the efficiency of the furnace has been considerably reduced.
