April 24, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Peachtree City, Ga- The world has been turning upside down due to COVID-19 making once simple items hard to come by. Beltone USA, a local hearing loss specialist in Peachtree City, GA, is doing its part to help. Beltone USA is offering free hearing aid batteries for anyone in need, valid until the end of April. The company made this decision as recognition that a large majority of hearing aid users are a part of the high-risk community and cannot leave their homes.

The free batteries can be claimed by filling out an online form, with a limit of one per person. Once the form has been completed the package of free batteries will be distributed by mail. Beltone USA is offering the batteries in four different sizes, including size 312, which is the most commonly used type of hearing aid battery in the United States. The batteries are disposal Zinc-Air button and will be mailed within airtight packaging. The life of the batteries is typically five-seven days, they are not rechargeable and should be discarded after use.

Beltone USA is also taking other measures to help its customers and support the high-risk community during this time. They have produced Youtube videos for at-home self-ear care. They are also offering telehealth visits, allowing their customers to still meet face to face without having to leave the safety of their home.

The free batteries are being offered on behalf of the Beltone foundation, a nonprofit organization dedicated to helping those who struggle with paying for ear care. Beltone is a national company with a local hearing center in Peachtree City, GA. They are dedicated to providing the best possible care to their clients and the community. For questions or more information about hearing care or free batteries give them a call at (770) 487-9030 or visit them online at <http://www.beltoneusa.com/> .
