A recent review written on Great Falls, Virginia-based Backyard Bug Patrol praised their mosquito control methods. The satisfied customer mentioned that they now can enjoy their backyard during the warmer months more than ever before. The company provides mosquito control services that are essential for local homeowners as the weather gets warmer and mosquito season sets in. Backyard Bug Patrol's mosquito control measures are designed to allow families to enjoy spending time in their yards without having to worry about the bother and risk that mosquitoes present. The review referred to above was written by Pat Flowe who states, "I no longer need to keep bottles of OFF or other mosquito repellents handy before I enjoy my patio. I now can work in my yard or enjoy backyard barbeques or just enjoy the evening breezes without serving as dinner to the mosquitoes. Our service person is always friendly and efficient. The repellent used is not overly toxic either, I believe." Here is another review that praises this company's mosquito control services; in it, Greg Cox says, "Backyard Bug Patrol is the best. My next-door neighbor and I started using their services 4 years ago and have been able to enjoy our yards without mosquitos ever since. Do not hesitate because this is a great value.?

Company president, John Mitchell, had this to say about their mosquito control services, "Without a doubt, one of the fastest ways to have a pleasant spring or summer evening in your yard ruined is to have the area you are in taken over by mosquitoes. Just the mere presence of them buzzing around is annoying enough but add to that a few bites or having to cover yourself in heavy, sticky repellents only makes things worse. It does not have to be that way. Over the years many new safe and effective means of mosquito control have been introduced. We are experts at applying these very effective mosquito control methods around a home. With our help, you can reclaim the use of your backyard at all hours of the day and evening.?"

Mitchell went on to add that there is a reason why they are a leading Virginia and Maryland mosquito control services provider. He says it's because their treatments have been proven safe and effective. When someone asks for these services, the owner says that they will send a licensed applicator to the site to do a thorough yard mosquito treatment. Mitchell stated that these applications not only knock mosquito's dead on contact, but their backpack sprayers get deep into the foliage in a yard and coat leaves, bushes, and grasses too. This leaves a protective barrier that continues to repel these pests. He says that with regular backyard spraying, it is truly possible to control mosquitos. The owner went on to say that controlling mosquito populations around one's home has many health benefits too as mosquitos are known disease spreaders. Diseases such as West Nile Virus or Eastern Equine Encephalitis are widely carried by mosquitos and their bites are also a major cause of life-threatening Heartworm in pets. He says that all of these can be devastating for whatever person or pet catches them. Mitchell also mentioned that their mosquito control services are sold in packages, so once the yard mosquito treatments start, they will periodically come back to treat again to ensure a person's mosquito threats in their yard are kept to a minimum. These packages also make it easy on the homeowner because they do not have to worry about keeping track of and scheduling repeat mosquito control applications. Mitchell says his company can provide protection from mosquitos for the entire season or can custom tailor a program for an individual customer.
