Philadelphia, PA - At Schuster Law, the experienced Philadelphia personal injury attorneys have announced the date of their upcoming legal webinar.

“On April 30, 2020, at 9:30 PM, our legal team would like to share some invaluable information on what to look for while visiting loved ones in nursing homes. The possibility of a loved one being abused or neglected is the last thing any family member wants to face. Bringing awareness to families and individuals can help save lives and catch the common signs that care is substandard,” shares Ken Schuster, the managing attorney at the law firm.

With decades of experience handling personal injury claims all over Pennsylvania, the injury lawyers in Philadelphia assist clients with care and dedication. Schuster Law provides legal representation in other areas of practice, such as slip and falls, medical malpractices, car accidents, and workers’ compensation claims.

Mr. Schuster speaks on the compensation process, “A nursing home or care facility’s purpose is to protect the health and safety of their residents. When the expected level of care is broken, it is essential to pursue justice for your loved one. Mistreatment is a terrible betrayal, and when filing a lawsuit, compensation may be recovered to help pay for medical bills, pain and suffering, loss of enjoyment of life, and emotional distress.?
