VinousQ's recent original release on Amazon--the premium wing corkscrew wine beer bottle opener--has received a myriad of positive reviews. Most notably, one review has been uploaded to YouTube. The product already ranks as the "#1 New Release" by Amazon. The company currently aims to be the best in its category, even though it has just been launched.

Spec, the Product Manager from VinousQ says: "We are thrilled with just how well our corkscrew has been received. We hope that the positive relationship with our customers will continue to exist for a long time."

The review video highly recommends this corkscrew because it is high quality and comes in a beautiful box which makes it ideal for gift giving. The reviewer goes on to mention that the foam insert within the box is great, as it protects the corkscrew from becoming damaged in shipping. Discussing the corkscrew itself, she mentions that it is very well made and feels very sturdy with a lot of weight to it. She explained, "What I like most about this product is that the auger is really sharp, and it pierces the cork really easily." Moreover, she discusses the padded areas on the handles of the corkscrew that allow for easy movement and use. She also appreciates the beauty of the shiny metal and the fact that it is easy to clean.

"The video explains all the benefits our product offers, and we feel our customer really captured the things we love about it. It is so nice to see our product get appreciated in the way we intended it to," adds Spec.

The review video concludes that the wine opener is an excellent product overall with premium features. She recommends it particularly as a gift, and also for people who simply enjoy a glass of wine at home.
