?At Exclusive Moving & Delivery,? states a company representative, ?we take the commitment to our customers seriously, and we want our customers to feel as safe as possible in our hands.
To ensure customer safety, Exclusive Moving has made a number of changes to our operations that are intended to protect both customers as well as employees.? For instance, in-person estimates will be kept to a minimum, and customers are advised to direct their inquiries via non-personal contact methods such as the phone, email, and so on. Furthermore, the crews they assign to a move will arrive wearing both gloves and masks and, as an additional precaution, will also have a generous supply of hand sanitizer in their trucks that they are instructed to use as much as possible.

Many customers will be pleased to learn that they need not fear any contamination occurring from contact with the trucks themselves, and there will be no risk of residue transferring to their furniture and belongings. This is due to the fact that Exclusive Moving employs a strict and stringent disinfection procedure that is run after each and every move, virtually eliminating the risk of contamination between individual jobs.

Furthermore, the company recognizes that COVID-19 is known to pass between people in most cases. With this in mind, they have taken the appropriate measures to inform their staff and crews of the risks, asking them to maintain a heightened state of awareness during this period. Members of the moving crews also have the capacity to stay home should they feel ill, and the company emphasizes that their crews are encouraged to do so in these circumstances.

The representative states, ?We understand that many will be justifiably concerned with the risks associated with moving in such times. However, we are also aware of the fact that many of our customers simply cannot afford to delay their plans and may resort to less adequate means of moving if we were to turn them away. It is our belief that they would be better off with a professional helping them out, so we will be on hand to offer our services as required. Should anyone have any questions regarding our commitment to customer safety, however, we urge them not to hesitate to reach out to us with a message on Facebook or give us a call. We will help you maintain your schedule and move out on time.?

Exclusive Moving & Delivery expects that the pandemic will ultimately have a minor, perhaps even negligible, effect on their operations and their ability to carry out their services to the full satisfaction of their customers. The company has long been known for their ability to minimize the stress and hassle of a move, taking a large part of the responsibility off their customers? shoulders. Boasting a professional, efficient, and highly experienced team, the movers are able to handle furniture, appliances, personal effects, and virtually anything else the situation calls for.

As a locally owned-and-operated company, they take their reputation extremely seriously, and they believe that the best way to uphold their customers? trust is to deliver an exemplary service every time their assistance is requested. They also utilize the latest equipment in order to ensure that all items entrusted to their care are looked after well. It is notable that they boast a perfect A+ BBB rating.

More information can be found on the company?s website, and interested parties are encouraged to get in touch with Brian Aguilar of Exclusive Moving & Delivery in order to follow up on any inquiries. The company will be pleased to share more details regarding their services as well as their approach to customer service over the coming months.
