VinousQ launched their wing corkscrew wine and beer bottle opener on the Amazon market just a few weeks ago at the beginning of August. Since then, it has received numerous positive reviews. The tool is popular with domestic users and professional waiters alike, and it continues to be in high demand.

SpecQ from VinousQ says: "We are so happy to see our product sell so well. A lot of people are telling us that they are purchasing it as part of a fine dining gift set. Others have told us that they use it professionally. We really want to thank our customers for trusting our product with their needs."

The wing corkscrew can remove both corks and bottle caps from wine and beer bottles. As such, it is a highly multi-functional tool. It is packaged in a nice gift box, which means it is also a great present for people who enjoy a fine glass of wine. It is designed to be soft, yet strong and sturdy. The opener feels comfortable in someone's hands and it means bottles can be opened with great ease.

These are all things people have mentioned in their positive reviews. "This Wing Corkscrew is heavier than the one I already have at home," says Amazon reviewer Tony T. "You can tell right away that this is very well made and durable by the look and how it feels when I open the box. It even comes in a very nice presentable box that is ready to gift wrap. I highly recommend this to my friends."

Other reviewers are saying virtually same things as Tony T. Everybody has noticed that the opener is very big and sturdy and that it feels really comfortable in a user's hands. One user even notes that it is one of the first corkscrews she has been able to use for some time, as she has weak hands. "Wow!" says Rachel. "This works so well the opening of a bottle is effortless. I have weak hands so I have often struggled with opening a wine bottle. Not anymore!"

The company has recently updated their stocks to ensure the demand for the corkscrew opener can be met. Those who need more information on the product can check it out at the Amazon site.
