The Net Lender (TNL) has announced that they are offering some guidance to residents of Los Angeles and nearby areas about gas stations and how gasoline prices have been behaving in view of the Covid-19 crisis. TNL has provided a web page on its site that shows the gas stations that are close to zip code 90041. And for those who are wondering why gasoline prices are not declining as much as oil prices are, fuel experts explained that it usually takes around six weeks before the change in oil prices is reflected in the gasoline prices at the gas stations. Furthermore, gas stations are trying to hold on as they face the dire possibility of a situation where there is too much supply but very low demand. The web page on gasoline stations can be accessed at https://www.thenetlender.com/gas-stations-close-to-la-zip-code-90041/.

Oil futures have been declining very fast as the oil industry faces the specter of a worldwide oversupply of crude oil as millions of Americans are obliged to remain home and off the roads because of the Covid-19 restrictions. A major issue is the lack of storage space for the oil as the oil industry tries to weather the storm of having an oversupply resulting from the crash in demand. Meanwhile, gas stations are lowering gasoline prices at a slower pace compared to the decline in oil prices. And because gasoline station owners will vary on how they hold on to the prices, it is actually a good idea for motorists to shop around because there is now a very wide variation in the gasoline prices from station to station. This is why TNL has provided a guide on the different gasoline stations present in Los Angeles.

Meanwhile, TNL is a provider of financial help that is backed by the customer?s car title. They will determine the value of the motor vehicle and the amount that they can let the customer borrow will be based on this value. It should be noted that the customer will retain the use of the car or motor vehicle even if the car title has to be transferred to TNL to serve as security for the financial assistance. And once the amount has been completely paid back by the customer, TNL will transfer back the title to the customer. TNL has a wide range of locations across the USA as can be seen at https://www.thenetlender.com/locations/tnl-car-title-loans-los-angeles-ca-8/.

Also, there are only a few requirements. First is the customer has to be at least 18 years of age. Second, the customer has be able to show some proof of income of at least $1,500 per month. Third, the car must have insurance and registration papers. Fourth, the vehicle must be totally owned by the customer, which means that if the car was bought through installment, there are no remaining installments that need to be paid. Fifth, the customer must have vehicle title.

It is also important to note that the money that can be obtained through TNL is usually for emergency purposes, such as hospital bills, school tuition, funeral costs, utility ills, house repair expenses, surgery, and more. This means that the money cannot be obtained through banks and similar financial institutions because it usually takes them at long time to approve an application, which means the money will not be in time for emergency cash needs.

In contrast, the amount can be made available by TNL in a span of 24 hours. Customers just need to make sure they have all the necessary documents and paperwork ready as early as possible so that the processing of the application will not be delayed.
