Ontario based ShowerMeister is taking steps to raise awareness of the need for members of the public to use shower filters if they use well water. Given that the company specializes in testing and reviewing various brands of shower filters, they have a wealth of experience and knowledge to share in this specific subject as well. On their website, concerned visitors may browse a full list of recommended shower filters for well water that the company has investigated themselves. Their top choice for this type of water can be found here as well.

Shower Meister states, ?If you live somewhere where the water is dirty and smells bad, or if you want to have your well water softened and want to make sure it?s fully clean, you need a shower head filter. Check out our reviews of the top shower filters to learn more. Getting the top filtration system might be a hard task for some people because they don?t know what to look for in a shower filter?but you don?t have to worry because ShowerMeister is here to help you with your shower filter. We also have a great review guide on the best reverse osmosis systems for filtering if you need that in your home?as well lots more information on all types of filters, shower filter systems and shower-related items!? On the page in question, the filters are ranked based on their price, quality, functionality and general ease of use and installation, the latter of which are important since most customers will likely want to try installing their new device on their own.

Fifth on the list is the Apex MR-7011 S Filter, a rather innocuous looking filter that nonetheless gets the job done. According to the company, it is a good choice for those who wish to remove hard water and get rid of odors in their water. The device functions by intaking water in one end and moving it to a central chamber where the chlorine removal process occurs. This cleaned water is then moved through the neck and poured out for the user to enjoy. Notably, the Apex MR-7011 Filter is easy to install and is compatible with more modern shower heads.

The company states, ?This filter is the perfect choice if you are getting acne from your water. A lot of studies show that dirty water is one of the biggest causes of acne, so if you get one like this one your acne will be reduced through water. This will also help you avoid dry skin, flaky scalp, dandruff and get better skin. If you have dandruff, you probably tried all kinds of shampoo and none seemed to work, right? Well, try out this shower head and let us know what happens!? However, the company does caution customers that this particular filter may be too expensive for their budgets. It may be in their best interest to keep looking for other options.

Fourth on ShowerMeister?s list is the Sprite HO2-WH-M Shower Head Filter, a device from a well known and reputable manufacturer. While some may not wish for such an addition in their shower heads, this filter boasts an extra feature that many others do not have: a massaging head. Should a customer wish to purchase this device for its filtration properties alone, however, the company is pleased to note that the head can be replaced with one that works in a more conventional manner.

ShowerMeister observes that, ?What?s good about this filter is that you can take it around with you when you travel. If you are sketchy about taking showers in motels or apartments, just install the filter (takes 3 minutes) and enjoy your shower.? Its biggest advantage, aside from its portability, is that it is exceptionally efficient at removing odors from well water. However, the company also discovered during their review process that it does not remove chlorine as well as they would have liked. Despite this, they recommend that customers give the Sprite HO2-WH-M Shower Head Filter a shot since it is fairly durable and long-lasting. It also boasts quite an affordable price.

ShowerMeister?s also showcases the Aqua Elegante Shower Filter For Well Water, the Aquasana AQ-400 Shower Filter and more in their list, which can be found on their website.
