May 13, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Interstate Roofing, a Colorado Springs based roofing service, would like to announce the availability of their 100% safe social distance inspections. Despite the fact that everyone is staying home and many services are currently inactive, Interstate Roofing is still looking to help homeowners ensure their roofs are in good condition. Failing to inspect one's roof regularly may mean that minor damage may go unnoticed for so long that it becomes quite a serious issue. Interstate Roofing is working to help homeowners avoid this possibility during the crisis. Learn more here: Interstate Roofing Colorado Springs.

"With COVID-19 keeping everything closed and everyone at home, it may seem like the whole world is standing still," the company says. "You might not even notice damage to your own home, and even if you do, it might be very hard to find someone to perform repairs on your home. This could lead minor issues, that would normally require minor repairs, to become serious problems that threaten your health and safety. That's why we at Interstate Roofing have decided to offer social distance inspections for those looking to keep up their regular roof inspections during the quarantine."

The Colorado Springs roofing company has been roofing homes in Colorado since 1994 and has been recognized as the largest residential roofing company in the area. If one's home has been hit by a hail storm or strong winds, it may be necessary to call a professional to perform a roof inspection and offer a damage repair estimate. The company can handle any residential or commercial flat roofing project and is known for always delivering superior roofing to all their customers. Decades of experience mean that every project is completed using tried and tested methods and equipment, ensuring a very well done job.

"We constantly strive to be the industry-leading roofers in Colorado Springs in product innovation and customer service," says the Colorado Springs roofing service. "Creating an amazing standard of excellence makes a difference in our quality craftsmanship and customer service on all of our roof repairs. We have a growing list of testimonials you can see first-hand. Not all Colorado Springs roofing contractors are created equal. Interstate Roofing ensures that our quality craftsmanship, meticulous attention to detail and dedication to superior customer satisfaction sets us apart from our competitors."

At Interstate Roofing Inc., project managers are dedicated to serving their clients. They make sure the process is as smooth and seamless as possible at step, from the initial inspection to dealing with insurance claims to completion of the residential or commercial roofing project. The company is dedicated to being the very best in the field, and feedback from customers shows that they have been very successful.

Many of the company's clients have left excellent reviews praising Interstate Roofing of Colorado Springs for their services. One Google review of the company states, "Just had my roof replaced and it was a first time experience. Henry Gott was the project manager. He walked me through the whole process and explained how he works with the insurance company to make it all come together. He stayed in contact with me through the whole process. The crew that put on the roof were remarkable. Thank you, Henry, for helping us through the chaos and bringing order again to our household."

Another client shares that, "I went with Interstate Roofing after talking with Gordon. He gave me all of the information and showed me my options all for free. Before going with Interstate, I had two roofing companies give me estimates for the repairs to my roof - $28,900 and $31,000. But my insurance company said I was only entitled to $18,131. Interstate's inspection team did a very thorough evaluation of my house. Gordon handled the claim and got me nearly $34,000! He also supervised the repairs, and I was kept in the loop every step of the way. I am very pleased with the high-quality service I got from Interstate and highly recommend them. Gordon also flew his drone over my house during the repairs and got this great picture! Thank you, Interstate!"
