However, we are glad to say that we took action immediately, and, as of today, our assisted living community is entirely free of any cases of COVID-19. All members who got sick have fully recovered, and we have put new, stringent measures in place to ensure that no new cases pop up anywhere."

She continues, "Obviously, the current situation means that we are very careful about who we let in or out of the assisted living community. Fortunately, however, our community continues to be as vibrant and supportive as it has always been. At Rosemark, we are focused on your wellbeing, and our community is designed to cater to every one of our members' needs. We are proud to say that our mission is to be more than just an assisted living community.
