More about this can be gleaned from their website at <https://www.armstrongbrosplumbing.com/sarasota-fl/>.

Joe DeLauder, President of Armstrong Bros Plumbing, says, "We're truly excited to open our new office in Sarasota Florida because it will allow us to better serve the needs of our customers in all of Sarasota County with regards to plumbing. We've been in this business since 1911 and we have kept ourselves up to date with advances in technology in this industry, which have been quite immense over the last 100 years. We look forward to serving your needs on your next plumbing project."

Armstrong Bros Plumbing can handle both residential and commercial plumbing requirements. For residential services, they can provide leak detection, repiping, sink services, septic services, hydro jet drain cleaning, excavation, disposal services, clogged drain cleaning, and backflow testing and recertification.

Backflow is a condition where potable water reverses direction with the result that there is suction in the water supply system. This suction brings in dirty water into the system. To prevent this from happening, backflow prevention devices are installed in some residential buildings and most commercial buildings. These devices have to be tested every year to ensure that they are working properly.

Meanwhile, clogged drains are a common problem in homes and the plumbing company offers emergency drain cleaning and sewer cleaning services. Their drain cleaning services include sewer drains, flood drains, storm drains, kitchen and bathroom drains, and more.

Another common service provided for residential buildings is garbage disposal. Their garbage disposal services include installation of residential garbage disposal system, garbage disposal repair, and clearing of clogged garbage disposal system. Their pipe lining services restore customer's cast iron pipes to its original condition. Their commercial plumbing services include commercial plumbing excavation, commercial backflow testing and recertification, commercial sewer line, commercial hydro jet drain cleaning, commercial video camera inspection, commercial leak detection, commercial pipe repair, and commercial repiping.

There are many kinds of emergency plumbing excavation services for commercial buildings. These include sewer line repairs; sewer pipe replacement; repair of water supply pipes; replacement of water supply pipes; repair or replacement of storm drainage and roof drains; tractor and backhoe services; culvert repair, maintenance or replacement; and inside sewer pipe repair or replacement.

Another important service provided for commercial properties is commercial video camera inspection. For this service, expert plumbers will put a video inspection tool into the pipes to determine if there are any issues that have to be addressed. The video inspection will allow them to see the color and the integrity of the inner parts of the sewer lines.

For commercial hydro jet drain cleaning, Armstrong Bros Plumbing uses high pressure jetting equipment to clean clogged pipes and drains. Hydro jetting can get rid of scale buildup, grease in pipes, root intrusion, or it can be used for routine maintenance. Commercial properties will require hydro jetting of their lines to eliminate downtime.

Commercial leak detection and repair is also essential. This is because a leak is one of the most common reasons for water damage and it can lead to high water bills. Early detection of leaks is vital to prevent costly damages and excessive water bills.
