Swarthmore, PA - The team of accident and injury attorneys in Swarthmore who form part of Tus Abogados Locales have publicly announced the date of their next virtual legal lesson. It will be a webinar taking place on May 11th at 8:30PM.

One of the managing partners at the firm, Laurence Banville, Esq., shared some details regarding the injury firm and their upcoming event, "Tus Abogados Locales has been representing the rights and interests of injury victims in Swarthmore for many years. We've previously managed and won injury cases dealing with medical malpractice and defective product claims, among countless other personal injury disputes. We believe our experience has provided us with significant legal knowledge which we aim to share via our online events. Most persons think that legal knowledge is too complex for them, yet we still think its important to put it out there as we know many will find it useful."

The goal of most personal injury claims or lawsuits is for the plaintiff, or the person bringing forth the claim, to be compensated for the damages they suffered. These can be quite varied in nature but they often include any medical expenses incurred and potentially also emotional damages such as pain and suffering. On this subject, Mr. Banville had the following to say, "While we hope that our audience finds our event both informative and entertaining, we must stress the need for individuals to consult professionals. We always say: every case is different. So persons who think they may have a case should always reach out to an experienced injury attorney and ease their doubts."

With locations throughout the state of Pennsylvania, the Swarthmore injury attorney office is located on Fairview road. Individuals with questions for the Tus Abogados Locales team, or those looking for additional information on the webinar content, please contact the team directly on their website or at info@tusabogadoslocales.com.
