Philadelphia, PA - The Philadelphia slip and fall attorneys at Philly Slip and Fall Guys have announced their upcoming informational webinar on the steps to take after a slip and fall on private property.

“On May 15th, 2020, at 9:30 PM, we plan on hosting our next webinar for individuals interested in learning more about property rights and what to do if a slip and fall accident occurs on someone else’s property. Property owners have what is called a “duty of care” that they are responsible for, to ensure their property is safe for those invited onto the land. In our webinar, we plan on discussing the meaning of an invitation onto someone else’s property and the requirements that must be met for the safety of others,” shares Mr. Keith Kofsky, the managing attorney at the law firm.

The slip and fall lawyers in Philadelphia have represented clients who have suffered injuries from accidents occurring in supermarkets, apartment complexes, restaurants, malls, public sidewalks, and more.

Mr. Kofsky explains, “Every slip and fall accident is different, meaning depending on the injuries sustained, there could be a specific amount of compensation deserved. Common injuries we see in such accidents range from minor bruises and bumps to many severe injuries like broken bones, brain injuries, or permanent spinal cord damage. We hope to provide individuals with some educational background on what legal options they have available to them if they sustain injuries in a similar slip and fall accident.?

Philadelphia residents who would like to join in on the webinar, please register by emailing info@phillyslipandfallguys.com.
