HBP Painting Contractors, an O?Fallon, MO based company, would like to announce that they have resumed their interior painting operations. With many companies opening up again, HBP Painting Contractors is pleased to join their peers and resume their services once more. While exterior painting has not been heavily affected by the pandemic, interior painting has deteriorated (since most people are looking to avoid contact as much as possible). It is possible, however, to carry out interior painting operations, provided the proper precautions are taken.

Homeowners in the O?Fallon area in need of a reliable interior painting service can contact HBP to get the job done. The company has provided quality residential interior painting services to families in the area for over 30 years.

Each interior painting operation follows a specific process. The first step is consultation. ?We?ll begin your project by meeting with you to assess the job, document specifications and provide you with a detailed quote,? the company says. ?Once you approve the estimate, we?ll assign trained painters to get to work. By the way, these painters actually work for HBP Painting Contractors, not sub-contractors. We?ll answer any questions you may have and assist you in the goals of your project. Not sure which paint color is right for your home? Undecided on which rooms could use an update? We can help!?

Proper preparation is a vital step in any successful interior painting operation. HBP Painting Contractors makes it a point not to take any shortcuts when preparing an area for painting. Prior to each residential interior painting job, the company?s contractors cover all surfaces and stationary fixtures with protective material in order to protect them from damage and paint splatter. Each surface is prepared in such a way as to make sure the final job is flawless. Nail holes and other imperfections are filled and sanded, and primer is used to prepare certain surfaces. The actual painting process is completed to a very high standard. HBP?s contractors communicate with clients throughout the process to help bring their vision for their home to life.

Part of making the experience as pleasant as possible is ensuring that each and every work environment is left clean. The company says, ?We do our best to keep the area clean during the prep and painting process. Once the job is complete, we?ll remove all painting tools and products and clean up the area to look exactly as it was before we started painting?except, of course, with a fresh coat of paint added! We?ll even run a quality inspection by walking through the finished project with you to make sure everything is just right. If, for some reason, you?re not happy with the results, we?ll fix them immediately.?

Many of HBP Painting Contractors? clients have left excellent reviews of the company on various platforms. One client named Lyndsie left a 5-Star review that states, ?HBP Painting Contractors were out to my house the day after I called to give me an estimate. Prices were very reasonable. They were able to get me scheduled quickly. They worked fast and efficiently. I?m pleased to say the least. My house looks beautiful. Wish I would?ve called them years ago. They were even able to install a light fixture for us (that wasn?t easy), plus they swept my floor! Everyone from the office to the contractors were extremely friendly and accommodating. I would highly recommend HBP Painting Contractors to anyone, you won?t be disappointed!?

Another client, Cynthia, says that, ?The people at HBP Painting were the nicest, most professional and talented group of individuals I've ever worked with. From the office staff to the talented painting contractors, you will not find a better company for your painting needs. Quick response to our request for a quote, a fair and decent price and outstanding workmanship. They are a hometown O'Fallon family business, and their pride shows through from quote to completion. I highly recommend HBP, they are simply the best.?
