Finnteriors Construction Services, based in St. Louis, Missouri, has announced that they are now taking orders for both kitchen and bathroom remodeling projects following a record number of inquiries made by their customers. They look forward to helping their customers complete their vision for their homes in the near future.

Finnteriors owner Kevin Finn welcomes the inquiries, saying, "With so many people enjoying their home for the extended lockdown period, we know many are itching to put all their wonderful ideas about fixing things in place. Now that we are able to get back to work on people's homes and commercial properties, we can help them realize their dreams."

Despite COVID-19 impacts and the prospect of future lockdowns looming on the horizon, Finnteriors has experienced a surge of interest in both kitchen and bathroom remodeling. Many want their kitchens remodelled in order to make this space the center of their home, opening it up so that everyone can enjoy coming together.

Finn was featured on USA Today, speaking as an expert who pointed out the things to consider when doing a home remodeling project. Finn was quoted, "Doing custom remodels for as long as we have has taught us a thing or two about what leads to a successful remodel. Careful planning is the main thing that needs to be done but some intangibles need to also be considered in order to help any remodeling project go smoothly. Those that follow the script that we lay out for them often have their remodeling projects come out looking great and have no major surprises along the way."

The company has continuously stayed on top of the latest remodeling trends, and they work with their customers to achieve their vision while offering suggestions that will keep it practical and on budget. They are able to show their customers many examples of modern remodeling and work together to get the perfect balance for the space and features they desire.

Their expertise in kitchen remodeling delivers the best of both function and form, with high quality modern features, as well as being pleasing and inviting to use as a central part of each customer's home. They use that same expertise when turning bathrooms into personal and luxurious sanctuaries, places to relax and wash away the stresses of the day that effectively do double duty in helping revitalize a user's energy ahead of a new day.

Finnteriors Construction Services offers a complete end-to-end service for bathroom remodeling. Finn points out that bathroom remodeling is one of the easiest ways to upgrade the value of a home without spending a lot of time and money. The company has had many inquiries from people who have decided that they want to sell but do not want to spend a lot of money or time on fixing up their entire home. Since the bathroom is an important stop on any home tour, even a video tour, a quick refresh of the tile could make all the difference in getting an offer on a home.

Others who have had enough of making do during the lockdown are determined to have the best features put in place, from walk-in showers to spa baths big enough for two. Finnteriors specializes in fast work that suits every customer's schedule in any job, no matter how big or small.

Finn concludes, "If the past few weeks have taught the world nothing else, it is that we all need to make the most of the time we have together. With summer just around the corner, now is the perfect time to invest in a home remodel—even some simple refreshes can make the difference if the plan is to sell it soon. Just give us a call to receive a free consultation."
