May 15, 2020 -

Centerville, Utah based Utah Disaster Specialists is reaching out to the wider community to share details about a mold inspection job they performed for a client in Salt Lake City. The disaster specialist company specializes in restoring properties that have had damage caused by fires, flooding, mold and other similar accidents in Centerville and the surrounding communities.

For their recent job, Utah Disaster Specialists were contacted by a prospective buyer who found mold in the attic of the property they were looking to purchase. The initial inspection was done by other inspectors who believed that the mold had formed in the attic due to the lack of proper ventilation. However, when the team from Utah Disaster Specialists did their own inspection, they found that the mold had in fact formed due to ice damming. Utah Disaster Specialists performed a thorough mold cleanup, though all other repairs will be done by the client themself.

Daryl Olsen, owner of Utah Disaster Specialists, says, ?With all that is going on in the world, it might seem like mold is the last thing to worry about. However, we can tell you that mold is something you need to be very concerned about. What our client did?that is, performing an inspection, getting it double checked by us, and immediately getting it cleaned?is the best course of action anyone can take if they find mold on their properties. By taking care of the mold issue before they purchase the house, they?ve made sure that the occupants of the house will not have to endure any unnecessary risk.? More information about the services provided by Utah Disaster Specialists in Salt Lake City can be found here: https://www.utahdisasterspecialists.com/mold-testing-salt-lake-city-utah/.

He adds, ?More often than not, people underestimate how dangerous mold can be. I?ve been in the business for a long time now and let me tell you: mold is far more dangerous than you think it is. Mycotoxins that are present in mold spores have been shown to have severely negative effects on humans. They can cause everything from nose and throat irritation, burning and itching or watering eyes to headaches. In fact, in some of the more serious cases, they can also lead to a lack of focus or concentration and even memory loss.?

The company recommends that, if someone so much as suspects that their home contains a mold infection, they should get their house inspected immediately. If they actually do have mold, the best and only course of action is to get in touch with mold removal specialists to take care of it immediately, before things get worse.

The prompt and high quality services provided by Utah Disaster Specialists have allowed them to rise to prominence as one of the most reliable disaster cleanup companies in Centerville and the surrounding areas. On the Google platform, the company has a 4.5/5-Star rating. In a recent 5-Star review, Sara Penquite praises the company?s services, saying, ?I called Utah Disaster Specialists when my basement apartment flooded and my landlord was out of the country and unavailable. Other companies were not willing to help me without my landlord's permission, but Daryl went out on a limb and was willing to help me. Flooding is always a very stressful situation, and I was very appreciative that someone was able to help me. I highly recommend this company.?

Meanwhile, in another 5-Star review, Marcos Marraquin reports that, ?My son decided to fill the tub with water and left it running. Utah Disaster sent out Kurt and Andy to determine what steps were needed to ensure no mold would grow. They began to remove the water and what was also affected by the water. I've never felt so taken care of during an emergency scenario like this. I highly recommend this group of men and their team to come and clean your place up. Thank you.?
