Utah Disaster Specialists, a Centerville, Utah based disaster management service, is currently working on water damage clean up in Ogden, Utah. A burst pipe proved to be the source of the damage in the small home where they are working at the moment, and the entire basement was flooded. The home sustained extensive damage, and the laminate floors that the owners of the home thought could be saved will now need to be replaced. Prior mold was found in several walls and floor boards, and the homeowner had no mold coverage on their insurance policy. Utah Disaster Specialists is working to make the mold removal more affordable for their client.

?Homes can see water damage from many surprising sources, and applying a fast remedy is crucial to avoiding any further deterioration,? says Utah Disaster Specialists. ?From heavy snowfall and blocked storm drains to the very messy threat of backed up dishwashers, the situations can vary a great deal, and each requires a precision response from the experts in water damage cleanup. Water from rain and busted pipes is relatively clean, and even though a speedy response is required to avoid this from soaking into the inner structures of the home, it is just water. When the water comes from the drainage system, it could be classified as ?gray. The water from sinks, showers and washers, known as ?black,? water, is corrupted with fecal matter and harsh chemicals.?

Delivering a fast and effective response is crucial to avoiding serious damage and residual health hazards left by unclean water flooding. Water damage is often so serious that insurance companies do not require that their client contact their adjusters before seeking out proper remediation. Water damage is particularly destructive and can have serious ramifications if not properly handled.

?The dangers are compounded by contaminated water, and for this reason, you should call us first,? the disaster management company says. ?We will dispatch our service crew to address your situation and help you handle all insurance-related business. Insurance terms and policies are very technical, and saying the wrong thing can get your claim denied. It?s better to call the specialists first. Allow us to get the task of restoring your home underway, and we will lend you some experience in getting the best from your insurance policy.?

Utah Disaster Specialists follows a multi-step clean-up routine. The first step is to stop the flooding and contain the damage. Once on site, the company?s specialists waste no time in containing the problem. They understand how water works and how to keep it under control as well as keep their clients? belongings safe and dry. The next step is to address the contamination. Once everything has been safely removed from the area, Utah Disaster Specialists begin working on addressing the contamination, be it minor or widespread.

Drying and ventilating is the next step. The removal of water is not complete until the entire home is dry, and the company?s specialists state that they do not stop, ?till every last wooden board is as dry as cracker dust.? The company makes use of large air movers and absorbent compounds to make the process as quick and simple as possible. Finally, cleaning and sanitizing the area removes any spores, bacteria, viruses and other microbes that could cause sickness later on. A number of homeowners have left excellent reviews of the company?s services online. One 5-Star Google review states, ?I called Utah Disaster Specialists when my basement apartment flooded and my landlord was out of the country and unavailable. Other companies were not willing to help me without my landlord's permission but Daryl went out on a limb and was willing to help me. Flooding is always a very stressful situation, and I was very appreciative that someone was able to help me. I highly recommend this company.?

Another client shares that, ?We had a water leak in our basement from the main shut off valve. They provide the equipment we needed to dry things out. They responded promptly. They were knowledgeable and offered some excellent suggestions. I got no sense of trying them trying to take advantage of the situation.?
