Is the air in your Salt Lake City home clean? Most people would say yes, but how do they know for sure? the company asks local residents. Unless your air ducts are cleaned regularly, you really don't have a clue. Yes, most people have the filters cleaned and changed but what about the unit itself. The average six-room house has about 40 lbs of dust and dirt in it. Having the air ducts cleaned is a good way to help with in-house allergies. It also helps keep the energy bill low. To save money, some people clean their air ducts themselves. However, it is highly recommended that a professional does the job because of the detail that goes into it.

The average Salt Lake City homeowner cleans their home every day. This is generally considered a good practice but what most people do not know is that, when they dust and vacuum, they are only putting the dirt and dust back in the air. This air is then sucked back into the vents of the air conditioner where it then recirculates into the air for the residents of the home to breathe once more. This is what causes people with allergies to become sick and even struggle to breathe as time goes on. Having a professional come around and clean one's air vents can help solve some of these problems.

Cleaning is not the only thing that has to be done, and routine inspections are absolutely necessary. It is said that air ducts should be cleaned at least once every 2-3 years on average. Studies have shown that people who have their Salt Lake City air ducts cleaned regularly experience fewer problems with allergies in their homes. The quality of the air in homes that have their air ducts cleaned is markedly better, and other homeowners have found that having their air ducts cleaned significantly lowered their electricity bills since clean units can cool the house more efficiently.

Many of the company's customers have left excellent reviews of All Clean Air Duct Cleaning's services on a number of platforms. One Google review from a client named Kristi says, "My dryer was taking 1 1/2 hours to dry a load. We tried cleaning the vent tunnel with a Home Depot kit on our own and didn't see any improvement. In the process, we discovered that the dryer vented to the roof and came out right under a solar panel, which limited our access to the vent opening. I explained this to Justin, who is a problem-solver and an out-of-the-box thinker. He came out with a partner. After they checked the dryer vent tunnel and found it was clean, Justin climbed into my attic and accessed the opening from under the roof. He came back down with a grate that had been at the exit of our vent; it was completely clogged with lint. Now, we can dry a load in 30 minutes. I am absolutely thrilled!"

Another client, Jann, also left a Google review of the company, stating, "Ask for Justin! I didn't realize until after Justin had left that my 19 year old son left 900 dollars cash on his dresser top! This cash was sitting directly next to the vent that Justin needed to access in the room. It would have been impossible for Justin to not see this stack of 100 dollar bills! When I went into the room to open the vent, I saw the money and immediately called my son! He had sold his motorcycle two days before for $900 and that was exactly the amount that still remained on his dresser. Justin was friendly, efficient, careful, kind and, most important, honest! Thank you, Justin."
