June 02, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Soap Shell has introduced paper soap sheets to allow people to wash and disinfect their hands while on the go. These come in soap shells containing 20 thin sheets of soap with each sheet sufficient for one handwashing session. Each soap sheet can effectively get rid of 95.99 percent of microorganisms on the hands. These thin sheets of soap have been designed to be gentle on the skin so that it doesn't irritate or make the skin dry. Twenty paper soap sheets are placed in a small and compact container that can easily fit in a bag or even be carried in the pocket.

Abdu Makki, a spokesperson for Soap Shell, says, "Your hands come into contact with millions of germs that can make you and others sick daily. In order to stay away from a terrible disease, it is essential to keep your hands clean at all times. During the high season of spring flu and the devastating coronavirus COVID-19, keep our water-soluble Shell Soap with you at all times, effectively eliminating viruses and bacteria on the go."

He continues, "Our Soap Shell sheets lets you wash your hands nearly anywhere you go. Effectively eliminate 95.99% of viruses and bacteria! Just add water! Each shell comes with 20 thin sheets of soap paper, with each sheet enough for one hand washing. TSA compliant and biodegradable making it the perfect travel companion."

There are a number of distinctive features of these paper soap sheets from Soap Shell. The soap is safe and gentle on the skin, it has a compact design, it is convenient to use anywhere, and there is no mess to deal with after using the soap. More about Soap Shell and their paper soap sheets can be found on the website at <https://soapshell.com/>.

The paper soap sheets are made from organic hand soap, which means that it contains only natural ingredients. This ensures that it is safe to use even for people who have sensitive skin. Furthermore, natural soap is nature-friendly, compared to soaps that have chemicals and synthetic ingredients. Instead, this organic soap is made from coconut oil, with rosemary oil as a natural additive. It is safe for children to use because it is not poisonous when accidentally ingested.

These paper soap sheets, because they are actually organic soap, are easy to rinse. This minimizes the consumption of water. This is another way that it can help the environment, aside from offering savings because just the right amount of soap is used for every handwashing session. And there would be no problem about having to take along a wet, messy, and slippery bar of soap while on the go.

These paper soap sheets from Soap Shell are also a better alternative to the typical hand sanitizers. Hand sanitizers contain alcohol that may kill 99.0 percent of bacteria. Unfortunately, alcohol can leave the hands rough and dry. And it is not really a good idea to kill 99.9 percent of the bacteria because not all of them are bad bacteria.

They are 100 percent free from any artificial colors, preservatives, and fragrances. Nevertheless, they are able to provide that a handwashing experience that is soothing to the hands. They are provided in a convenient refillable dispenser. Thus, the next purchase will just be for refill packs, which allows a substantial amount of savings.

These paper soap sheets offer the convenience of hand soap dispensers while also being compact in size. Furthermore, hand soap dispensers that are used in public places like restrooms can still have a risk of infection if they are of the manual type. An automatic soap dispenser would be a better option because there is no need to touch it. However, there might not always be an automatic soap dispenser available. Thus, the need to bring along these paper soap sheets that provide just the right amount of soap for one handwashing session.
