June 10, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

La Mesa, California based digital marketing company All Systems Go Marketing is pleased to announce that they have published a new blog post that explains how to get results via Local SEO. Since they launched their operations in 1999, All Systems Go Marketing has been focused on working for and partnering with small-to-midsize businesses. Since 2015, they have exclusively provided their services to HVAC companies.

Craig Wright, a representative for All Systems Go Marketing, says, "If you are a small business owner wondering what options you have in the highly competitive and expensive world of online marketing, you need to look into investing in Local SEO. Why? Because local searches constitute a whopping 46% of all Google searches. On top of that, every day, local businesses are being searched by 58% of mobile users, and 72% of them patronize a store within five miles of their vicinity. What do all these statistics mean? Simply that if you want your small business to gain even just a bit of prominence in your area, you need to implement local SEO practices, starting off with the very basic step of making sure your local business website is optimized so that when a targeted local audience does a search, your website appears on the first page, if not the top, of search results."

In the new blog post, All Systems Go Marketing provides a number of Local SEO best practices for businesses to follow and implement. One such practice is ensuring that the business' NAP (Name, Address and Phone number) is cited. The blog post reads, "The more NAP citations you have, the higher your chances of ranking high. That's because Google and other search engines consider a high number of NAP citations as proof that your business is authentic and legitimate. Having NAP citations in as many online directories and legitimate websites is a great practice to establish yourself in local SEO."

The company also recommends that businesses have a solid link building strategy that is effectively executed. In the blog post, All Systems Go Marketing writes, "Link building is not just an important aspect of a general SEO effort, but in local SEO as well. By having strong links, you will be given direct referral traffic as you effectively improve your reputation and brand visibility. To build links effectively, try to be featured in directories, whether they're of start-ups or of the more prominent brands in your industry. Local community and city websites can also be tapped on for more links, as well as local businesses that are complementary, not direct competitors, to your own.?

The blog post also goes on to explain the importance of other Local SEO tactics, such as ensuring that the business is listed on important directories like Google My Business and Bing Places. As the company explains, Google My Business provides local businesses with detailed instructions that they can follow to successfully optimize their online presence. Having a Google My Business profile is in fact one of the first steps that small businesses should take as part of their local SEO efforts. In addition to Google My Business and Bing Places, All Systems Go Marketing also recommends that businesses ensure their presence on other directories, such as Yelp, Facebook, Instagram and so on.

Wright says, "In the modern digital marketing landscape, if you want any real success, your business needs to have a strong online presence. A key part of a strong online presence is having an airtight Local SEO strategy that is masterfully implemented. At All Systems Go Marketing, our sole priority is to provide you with all the help you need to establish your online presence and succeed. Contact us today to learn more about how we can help."
