San Antonio, Texas based Carabin Shaw P.C. is extremely pleased to announce that Mary Wilson has joined their law firm as a personal injury attorney. More details on the local office can be found here: <https://fordandlaurel.com>.

"After long weeks of discussion, we are excited to finally welcome Mary Wilson into our law firm, and expect to make the most out of this new opportunity," says James Shaw, a spokesperson from Carabin Shaw P.C. He adds, "We believe that both our goals and focus align perfectly, and we expect to achieve great things with this new partnership. We can now offer better legal representation services as well as broader coverage in any situation that our clients may find themselves needing help with, making them the main beneficiaries of this association."

In the pursuit of her many qualifications as an attorney, Wilson earned her law degree at St. Mary's University School of Law. She is currently a member of the Professional & Bar Association, the American Bar Association, Texas Trial Lawyers Association and the Texas Bar Foundation. Her certifications include Texas and New Mexico state licenses, and she has received recognition from the US District Courts, including the Western and Southern Districts.

Within her personal life, her hobbies include tennis, hiking, and fishing at the Texas Coast. Wilson's free time finds her motorcycling through the Texas Hill Country and skiing in Taos, New Mexico. Her other passion, besides being a lawyer, is flamenco dancing, though she also enjoys Spurs basketball, Fiesta and San Antonio's cultural diversity.

Wilson is always willing to discuss her motivation to become an attorney and her drive to help the community. She says, "The most rewarding aspect of my work is customer service. I enjoy meeting clients and getting to know them and their families." In particular, she appreciates her own ability to deliver a positive impact on the outcome of her clients' cases and their lives in the most effective way possible. She continues, "My first and foremost commitment is toward my clients and I direct all of my efforts to making sure that they are cared for and are receiving the individual attention that they require."

As part of Carabin Shaw P.C.'s team of attorneys and a personal injury attorney with extensive experience, Wilson will be handling any cases that involve Trucking/18 Wheeler Injuries, Motor Vehicle Injuries, Medical Malpractice, Nursing Home Malpractice, Premises Liability and Product Liability. More information on these specific areas of practice can be found here: <https://www.carabinshaw.com/>.

Carabin Shaw P.C. says, "Anyone dealing with a case that involves any of these situations can reach out to us, and we'll gladly offer a free consultation and professional advice on how to deal with their specific situation. Due to the current situation with the COVID-19 pandemic, and to safeguard our clients and staff, we are currently conversing with our clients via phone or video conferencing. Despite this, they can expect nothing but exceptional attention to detail and care, as we maintain our clients as our first and foremost priority. We invite anyone in need to call us without any hesitation and give us a chance to demonstrate and back up our reputation as top San Antonio personal injury attorneys."

Carabin Shaw P.C. has received several customer reviews that attest to the excellence of their services and the commitment of their attorneys. One of their most recent testimonials, highlighted on their website, describes the experience of Dan Austin. Austin says, "This law firm did a great job in making me feel comfortable and assured that my case as well as my wife's case, was in good hands. Joseph helped me out a lot and even went the extra mile to stay in contact. In the end, I had the rough end of the case, though I technically won. Mr. Shaw helped me out even more. Though I hope to never need such services again, if I do, it shall be with this firm. Thank you!"
