

Real Estate Is Upticking in Spite of the Covid-19 Lockdown, Says Minnesota Real Estate Appraisal Services

June 09, 2020

ROSEVILLE, MN - June 09, 2020 -

Minnesota Real Estate Appraisal Services, a commercial real estate appraiser based in Roseville Minnesota, has revealed that housing activity has been surprisingly much stronger than expected during the Covid-19 lockdown. They want to point out that the liquidity in the market is apparently due to increased confidence resulting from the infusion of cash and credit from the Federal Reserve. However, the real estate appraiser warns that there is an underlying risk that remains. Thus, when ascertaining the true value of a property, it is a good idea to get the services of a truly experienced appraiser, such as Clark Gosset of Minnesota Real Estate Appraisal Services.

Clark Gosset says, "When you employ our services, you can count on receiving accurate and legally defensible real property values. We ensure that our work will stand up in court as well as in the market place. That way we spend less time in court, especially when complicated and adversarial interests come into the equation. We handle less complicated and contentious work as well, and at reasonable fees. Call us now for a free initial consultation."

Clark Gosset continues, "We have over 40 years of experience in providing a commercial real estate appraisal. We have already conducted hundreds of appraisals for commercial and industrial properties in the St. Paul and Minneapolis Metro Area and in other places in the state. Plus, we have also provided land appraisals for investors and developers."

This real estate appraisals company employs advanced technology, such as geographic information systems (GIS), whenever it is applicable and it is requested by a client. With the use of GIS technology, specific details of the land on a map may be made available, including soil types, elevation, wetland areas, wetland types, and other unique characteristics of the land. All of the attributes on the map are thoroughly explained in the appraisal report. And all of the information and mapping that are employed for the explanation come from the Minnesota DNR, USGS, or other reliable sources.

Minnesota Real Estate Appraisal Services may also be able to provide other related services. These include acquisition; market analysis; market feasibility studies; appraisal review; absorption studies; consulting; estate and family planning; eminent domain valuation and consulting; easement analysis; cost analysis; brokerage services; buying and selling decisions; feasibility and land use studies; highest and best use; portfolio analysis; ad valorem/ tax appeal; historical landmark impact; and environmental impact.

The company also provides home appraisals, ranging from the smaller homes in the cities to the more complex multi-million dollar homes found along Lake Minnetonka. Approximately 30 percent of their appraisal projects in one year are made up of residential homes. They are capable of offering different kinds of appraisal reports and formats for residential properties. These include the: Residential Income Multiple Family, Employee Relocation Form, Uniform Residential Appraisal Report, and Individual Condominium Unit Appraisal.

Clark Gosset points out that it is their mission to help their clients make smart and the most appropriate decisions based on the appraisals that they offer. They always ensure that the appraisals are accurate because their team of appraisers have comprehensive knowledge regarding the unique characteristics of each of the Minnesota communities. They will then provide concise appraisal reports that are easy to comprehend in just a short time.

Minnesota Real Estate Appraisal Services has been providing their various services to practically all of the cities and towns of Minnesota and they can provide appraisals for all types of properties. Clients are ensured that they will always get the best appraisal service possible because the company has obtained the necessary certification and licenses for real estate appraisal and real estate valuation. They can also be hired as expert witnesses for proving the value of a particular property in various courts.
