Barrie, Ontario -- Whatsyourcloud.com has launched a website and Facebook page that seeks to provide readers with a different perspective from that of the mainstream media on newsworthy items which impact families and the rights, freedoms and sovereignty of individuals and nations. Whatsyourcloud.com seeks to provide readers with a different perspective from that of the Mainstream Media.

Topics discussed include health and well being, the economy, monetary reform, politics, the environment and people who do amazing things to help make this world a better place in which to live.

As Co-founder Bradley Lalonde points out: "More and more people now are looking to alternative sources for their news, as they are starting to realize that there are a handful of companies which dominate the media today. In fact, many people ask us about how media works today and if the mainstream media is simply a propaganda machine for governments, Wall Street, the military, Big Pharma and other multinational corporations."

The objective of Whatsyourcloud.com is to help readers "Think Outside the Box" and to reconsider what they have been taught in school and learned from the mainstream media on topics such as economics, history and politics. One example is the concept of "free-market capitalism". Does it still exist today or are most industries such as agribusiness, banking, energy, health and telecommunications controlled by a few dominant international corporations? And, if the latter, do these conglomerates use their wealth, influence and lobbying power to further their own interests at the expense of the interests of the people?

These are the type of questions that Whatsyourcloud.com asks readers to consider.

"We want our readers to do their own research, challenge the status quo and even the articles we provide," notes Co-Founder Daniel Lalonde. "The key is to become an independent thinker and determine what is right for you so that you understand the world in which we live and why and how we arrived at this point."
