June 15, 2020 -

Markus Heitkoetter, the founder of Austin, Texas based Rockwell Trading and host of Coffee With Markus, has been showing his rapid account growth strategy live on YouTube. Heitkoetter opened a new small trading account with $20,000 in it and, as of June 8th, the account is up over 25%. He has been trading this account using his proprietary trading software The PowerX Optimizer. Heitkoetter believes he has created the simplest way for anyone to trade stocks and options using his trading assistant. Coffee With Markus airs live on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 2:30 PM Central.

The PowerX Optimizer can dramatically improve one?s trading ability, especially since the tool is so easy to use. ?All you have to do is just click a couple of buttons, see what trade you like, decide if you want in and then boom,? says Heitkoetter. ?Many of the world?s best traders use a similar strategy that powers the PowerX Optimizer, from famous trader Bill Lipschutlz, who turned $12,000 into $250,000 before he even graduated college to world famous billionaire hedge fund manager Steve Cohen. Even employees at some of the biggest and most powerful financial firms on the planet are using similar systems as well.?

The PowerX stock trading strategy has helped Heitkoetter increase the value of his new account by a large percentage and has proven to be very effective in helping users trade. Heitkoetter has been a trader for over 25 years, and is known for having left his corporate job to pursue a career in trading. He began developing trading systems in 1996 and has traded almost everything from stocks and options to futures, commodities, spreads, forex and interest rates. He wrote the bestselling ?The Complete Guide to Day Trading,? and he is a regular speaker at Trading Expos and CMEGroup sponsored events. He started Rockwell Trading with the goal being to simplify the complex world of trading and help his people achieve their trading goals.

His trading strategies are easy to understand and execute, and one can learn them in less than a day, often less than an hour. Their ease of execution makes them particularly effective, as one ends up with a deeper understanding of what they are doing. Despite being so simple in nature, Heitkoetter?s strategies are great for experienced traders since they can be easily combined with other strategies and are therefore perfect for seasoned traders looking for new trading ideas.

Heitkoetter has helped many people become better, more successful traders through Rockwell Trading, and many have left reviews of the trading consultancy online as a result. ?I read Markus Heitkoetter's ebook: "The Complete Guide to Day-Trading" and have been a fan ever since,? says a review from Ace Walker. ?The book was well-written and packed with useful information. It wasn't just about trading either. It helped me on a spiritual level, as a human being, because it also asks you to evaluate your own psychology, your own intentions, and helps you to understand yourself better and develop a strategy that not only works for your trading but for your life. Much like the book, the e-mails I get from Markus/Rockwell Trading are informative on a material, emotional and spiritual level. He always includes important updates about the market, a thought-provoking article and an inspiring quote. From this experience, I have nothing but respect for Markus himself and Rockwell Trading as a business.?

Another client shares that, ?I have to say so many good things about Rockwell Trading. Marcus is awesome. I have watched a lot of the free info with him on Youtube channel ?Coffee with Marcus.? Now I'm reading Marcus's book! The Complete Guide to Day Trading, and I?m really enjoying it. I never had traded before any strategy. It is a challenge for me. The truth is I'm feeling confident. I have studied a lot. I'm looking forward to simplifying and consistently making profits. My next step will be to learn Options with Rockwell Trading too. I am satisfied with this course. I tried other classes before and I just gave up, but I did not give up this time because the way Marcus and Mark teach is very easy to understand. It was a great decision to go to the Rockwell bootcamp in Los Angeles, CA.?
