Walla Painting of Carmel, Indiana is now offering what they call their "Kitchen Refresh Package". It's an innovative and unique kitchen package that will help rejuvenate the look of any kitchen. It's also a much less expensive alternative to doing an entire kitchen renovation. Included in the package are Walla Painting's highly rated cabinet painting, countertop refinishing, backsplash installation, and color consultation services. The company is not aware of any other painting contractors in the Carmel area currently offering bundled services like this one at a package price.

Jonathan Walla, the company owner, says, "We at Walla painting realize that the current virus crisis has created some financial concerns for many. This has forced some in the Carmel, Indiana area to put off expensive home improvements such as the kitchen renovations they so badly wanted to get done. This is why we decided to offer an affordable Kitchen Refresh Package. It's a great way to give a kitchen a new look and feel without the cost that renovations or remodels involve. So far, those that have taken advantage of this kitchen rejuvenation deal have been extremely pleased with the results. It's also a job that our design team and painting crews love to do because it really challenges them creatively."

To get the package off to the right start, Walla says it's essential for the customer to share their ideas for their kitchen makeover with the company's design team. This is what's called the "color consultation" in the kitchen refresh package. Once the design team has a good idea of what the customer wants, it helps them to better coordinate the project. The owner says that this will be the point where they help the homeowner make such decisions as to whether to paint or strip down and stain the existing cabinets. The design team's input is vital to the project. That's because they will help the homeowner decide between thousands of color choices to achieve the look that they desire from their kitchen makeover

Walla went on to say that the cabinet painting portion of the kitchen refresh package would be a good deal on its own. He mentioned that this is also one of his painting company's signature services. According to the owner, his crews that do this job are meticulous in every step of the process. It starts by removing cabinet doors and all the hardware that is attached to them and the cabinet framework. They then will sand or strip down the cabinets and also mask any exposed areas of the kitchen to keep them from getting paint or stain on them. His team will then apply the perfect amount of paint or stain to the cabinets to get them to look outstanding when the project is completed.

Countertop refinishing is one of the newest endeavors that the company has gotten into. According to Walla, it's also a very essential part of the kitchen refresh package. He says that's because the looks of a kitchen counter can make or break the overall appearance of any kitchen. Like dirty wheels on a car take away from the looks of a vehicle, the owner says that no matter how good the rest of a kitchen looks, it simply will not stand out if the countertops in it look dull and worn. Walla added that part of the problem with countertops arises because they are made of solid material, this gives homeowners the false impression that they are maintenance-free so they are often neglected for long periods. The company owner said that the backsplash is similar to the countertops. It's the area of the wall behind a sink, stove, or counter. He says if this area is done right it can really enhance the looks of any kitchen.

Walla said that in addition to scheduling kitchen refresh packages, all of the other residential painting tasks that they do are available too. This includes exterior painting, interior painting, and "painter for a day" services. He says that those who are interested in getting painting work done can contact them by phone or email or they can request a quote by filling out the form on the company website.
