FRoffice Coworking Announces Changes In Its Facilities To Protect Against COVID-19

June 24, 2020

June 24, 2020 -
FRoffice Coworking is a shared office coworking space that caters to the professional workforce in and around Budapest. The company has announced that it is taking proactive steps to protect its facility and customers against the dangers of the novel coronavirus. This initiative includes renting out fewer spaces, following social distancing norms, providing hand sanitizers, regular deep cleaning, and more. This overhaul comes in anticipation of a second surge of coronavirus cases in Hungary following the ending of the COVID-19 restrictions.

There have been over 4000 reported coronavirus cases in Hungary at the time of writing. 573 of those reported cases have died. Budapest is the biggest hub of the disease in the country with almost 2000 cases identified by the third week of June. In response to the rising severity of the disease, Prime Minister Viktor Orban was granted extraordinary powers along with instituting a state of emergency. This emergency and lockdown have had an adverse effect on the economy of the country. Even though the government authorized a $30 billion stimulus package, the export-oriented economy of Hungary which is centered around foreign trade is going to take some time to bounce back due to the current state of world events.

FRoffice Coworking is preparing for the reopening of the workforce by enforcing strict guidelines for its space. The spokesperson for the company said, ?We will be enforcing all of the measures suggested by the WHO for workplace safety from COVID-19. All employees at the facility will be trained for their new responsibilities. All the staff will be asked to carry personal protective equipment while on-premises. The janitorial staff will be trained to disinfect all surfaces thoroughly along with proper hazardous trash disposal techniques. The security and management staff will be asked to strictly enforce the face mask policy. Any facility user found to be sick will be asked to isolate and to consider working from home. Temperature checks will be made routinely. We are confident that the systems we put in place will be sufficient to protect our customers from the attack of COVID-19. We are confident that we can keep FRoffice Coworking a safe and healthy space for everyone.?
