Rancho Cucamonga, Calif. ? As the world adjusts to a new normal, it is important that everyone does their part to give back to the local community. Drain Experts, a local plumbing company in Rancho Cucamonga, CA, has been doing its part to help the local community that they love, by giving services to restaurants and supporting local businesses.

Along with making sure to use local businesses for truck maintenance, Drain Experts is also trying to help the hard-hit restaurant industry. As restaurants in the area start to open back up, Drain Experts realizes that plumbing is in the back of every owner?s mind. However, seeing as restaurants have been closed for an extended amount of time, checking the plumbing to make sure it is running correctly is extremely important. Drain Experts is providing local restaurants with no-cost assessments for plumbing. The company is also offering camera inspections for any local business that has been impacted by the stay-at-home orders across the state.

A representative of Drain Experts stated, ?If your building has been running at little or no capacity during the stay-at-home orders, it is important that you check the water supply before allowing employees or clients back in.? They went on to say, ?We'll be happy to help in any way we can. We support all business.?

Drain Experts is family owned and operated providing emergency plumbing in Rancho Cucamonga since 2006. The owner has a passion for plumbing and makes sure to provide quality affordable service to all customers. Drain Experts offers 24-hour emergency services and it is maintaining the highest of safety regulation to ensure the safety of their customers and technicians, in an effort to prevent the spread of the coronavirus.
