September 04, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Elite Mechanical Systems, LLC, a Pensacola, Florida heating and plumbing company, has announced that they are currently celebrating their first year in business. The company has been serving customers since 2014, and provides air conditioning, heating, and plumbing services to home and business owners in the Pensacola area.

Marilyn Ricks of Elite Mechanical Systems stated, "We're pleased to be celebrating our first anniversary, and we look forward to providing our customers with many more years of service."

Michael Solliday founded Elite Mechanical Systems in 2014, after working with a local mechanical contracting company for more than 10 years. At times over those years, Michael oversaw operations in excess of $20 Million of work and supervised more than 200 people.

Michael made the decision in 2014 to venture out into having his own company, and the name was officially changed, although they continue to serve many of the same customers that Michael served before founding Elite Mechanical Systems.

The company is run by Michael, who acts as President and CEO, as well as Daniel Solliday as Operations Manager, James Solliday and Greg Parsons as Project Managers, and Todd Cooper as LEED AP BD+C - Sr. Estimator.

The Pensacola air conditioning company is licensed and insured to carry out services throughout Florida, as well as in Alabama and Mississippi. They offer services that range from water leak repairs and water heater fixes to medical facility system repairs, providing residential and commercial plumbing, heating and cooling services.

The company has a customer-driven attitude and tries to always provide high quality services. Marilyn Ricks believes that these are major contributors as to why the business has prospered. She explained, "By offering competitive bids and design build services, we know that we're giving our customers what they want as well as what they need."

Today, the small Pensacola heating company continues to be family owned and operated, and has a diverse staff of qualified, certified, and highly trained specialists in their respective fields, another thing that Ricks states has helped them to keep customers satisfied for the past year.
