HBP Painting Contractors wants their business customers to know that professional commercial painting is one of the most affordable ways for any business to update its looks. This company has experienced this firsthand as they have been providing quality commercial painting services to businesses in St. Louis and St. Charles Counties in Missouri for over 30 years now. They are a reputable company that offers many different types of interior and exterior commercial painting services. Those at the company say that a fresh coat of paint on a commercial property also makes a positive statement to the employees and customers of that business too.

The company co-owner, Cody Hartrum, says, ?If you are a business owner or manager, you are probably searching for ways to enhance your company?s image or looks. One of the best ways to do that is to put a fresh coat of paint on the interior or exterior of your commercial property. The cost to do this will also pleasantly surprise you in most cases. The right base coat combined with carefully selected accent paints can really enhance the ?wow factor? of any business?s looks. We very much enjoy working with area businesses to help them get the updated look that every progressive type of business needs these days. Those who we have done commercial painting work for will tell you that not only did we provide them with quality work, but we also gave them great customer service from initial contact to when the project was completed.?

Hartrum went on to say that one of the best traits of their company is how flexible they are when doing commercial painting work. They realize that businesses cannot be shut down for extended periods to get their painting work done. That?s why they do such things as schedule off-hour painting and have equipment that will shorten paint drying times. He says they also do such things as use low VOC paints indoors so there is no lingering strong odor once the paint is dry. The co-owner says they go to great lengths not to interrupt their commercial customers' daily operations when they are completing a painting project for them. He also added that with their extensive experience and attention to detail, from prep work to completed job, their customers can rest assured that HBP Painting Contractors has the equipment and experienced personnel to do the job right the first time. Initial consultations and inspections from the company are always free and they believe in giving their business customers a fair and accurate estimate before starting each project that they take on.

Hartrum added that HBP Painting also has an excellent reputation in their area for doing quality residential interior and exterior painting, cabinet painting, and deck and fence staining.

This painting contractor has also received many glowing reviews for the commercial and residential work that they have provided to their customers. There is no better example of that than on their Google Maps Listing where the 73 reviews that have been left on them average out to a perfect 5 out of a possible 5-stars. In one of those reviews, Dan Lenhard states, ?It was an absolute pleasure working with HBP Painting. The entire staff was very punctual, efficient, courteous, and professional. Cody listened to my needs, offered great suggestions, and prepared a detailed estimate. Teagan kept me fully informed about project costs, start times, and reminders. Todd and Joe did wonders on the interior and Zach and Todd did an excellent job on the exterior of our home, especially the garage doors. The quality of workmanship was outstanding and the price was reasonable. It was the best paint project I?ve ever seen, no joke! I highly recommend HBP for any painting needs around your home."

For business owners in the St. Louis and O?Fallon areas that would like to know more about how they can affordably update their company's looks, they can contact HBP Painting by phone, email, or by website contact form.
