Chicago, IL based Imperial Crane Services, Inc. (ICS) is pleased to share that their services will continue to be made available over the course of the coming months. Despite the numerous challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic, the crane specialist believes that contractors around the state will be able to rise to the occasion and work around any obstacles they meet. As such, the company is determined to offer their support to these contractors by giving them rapid access to the equipment they require.

?If you want to buy a crane in Illinois,? says Gina Kaktis of Imperial Crane Services, Inc., ?rest assured that we will be ready to meet your demands and help you locate the specific machinery you need to complete your projects. Over the course of our work, each and every one of the jobs we have lent our assistance to has made it abundantly clear just how irreplaceable the right crane can be. In light of this undeniable fact, we have come to the conclusion that we cannot let our customers down in their time of need. Pandemic or not, if you need our assistance, you only have to ask.?

Kaktis and the rest of the team at Imperial Crane Services, Inc. have also taken measures to ensure that they can abide by social distancing guidelines as they work on behalf of their customers. In addition to this, the company has been implementing (or recommending) decontamination procedures that will help curb the risk of infection posed by machinery switching hands. Given that ICS?s catalogue includes both used and new cranes, the company believes this step is vital to ensure the safety of all parties involved.

On this note, the team of experts at ICS is also available in the capacity of crane rental company consultants. The company understands that budgetary concerns are at an all-time high given the state of the economy, and this has fueled their determination to offer their assistance to customers in any way possible. In many cases, knowing how much of a project?s budget should be allocated for a crane is just as important as which cranes can complete the task required. Imperial Crane Services, Inc. has a wealth of expertise in the field that dates back to their founding in the late 1960s, and their team of consultants is eager to place this expertise at the disposal of their clients.

A customer may seek the company?s aid obtaining All Terrain Cranes, Hydraulic Truck Cranes, Conventional Truck Cranes, Conventional Lattice Boom Truck Cranes, Crawler Cranes and so on. Imperial Crane Services, Inc. also has a fleet of best-in-class Merlo Telehandlers (the company is an official dealer in Louisiana, Texas, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin). As the company explains on their website, ?Merlo?s telehandler is among the first rotating forklifts to feature a side-mount on the engine rather than under the boom. This allows the operator to achieve 360-degree visibility by dropping the boom into a low-profile position, eliminating the obvious safety hazard of blind spots.? More information regarding the Merlo Telehandler or the cranes that are available can be found on the company?s official website.

Notably, the company?s work over the past few decades has not gone unappreciated by their customers. As Derek Hughes says in their 5-Star Google reviews, ?They provide a plethora of cranes and equipment to handle all your lifting needs. Overall, a top notch company with highly qualified and skillful operators who get the job done!? Similarly, Jeff Barnhart shares that the company is, ?An all-in-one-stop shop for crane and rigging service, why go anywhere else. Great sales team, and their certified operators are kind and gentle.? Whether a client requires a simple preliminary consultation or an emergency crane service in Indiana, ICS believes in being there to help.
