July 23, 2020 -
Professional Painters of Hilton Head, a Top Rated Painter in Lowcountry, SC, is helping people in South Carolina maintain their mental wellbeing despite the stress brought by the coronavirus pandemic.

The health and economic impact of the global pandemic is taking its toll on many people. To help the South Carolina community, Professional Painters of Hilton Head promotes the use of psychosocial activities to reduce stress. Art is considered an effective therapy that can help people of all ages, the company adds.

In line with this, Professional Painters of Hilton Head uses its interior house painting services to help the people. The company has paired up with several color experts to identify the most anxiety-reducing colors that people can try during the pandemic. It?s because wall colors significantly impact a person?s mood, the professional painting company added.

The first suggested color by the painting expert is cream. Swapping natural white for something warmer like cream helps veer away the hospital-feel of white paints.

Another calming color suggested by the Best Residential Painters in Hilton Head Island, SC, is lavender. Often associated with serenity, the lavender color brings a soothing effect and can even spark creativity.

For those who like earth-color, green is the most appealing nowadays. But rather than going too green, choose sea foam instead. Sea foam color is more visually appealing that adds brightness to a room and has a calming effect.

Painting home interiors with these stress-reducing colors are best left with professionals, though. Professional painters can spot issues and address them before putting the fresh coat. They also have the best equipment to provide the best quality output.

In line with this, the premier painting contractor is committed to delivering customer service that is second to none. ?We offer a wide range of services to your residential and commercial painting needs. We can paint any size project and provide the best painting services. Big job or small, we have you covered,? the company pledges.

Professional Painters of Hilton Head provides more than 14 years of painting experience. They also have fully-licensed and fully-skilled team members. On top of that, they are also giving a 15% discount to their customers for a full interior or exterior repainting service. They also provide big discounts to senior citizens, teachers, police officers, and active military. The painting business also offers practical warranties.

?We strive to provide honest, reliable, residential, and commercial painting services that stand head and shoulders above the rest. We combine the industry?s best paint with our passion for detail to exceed your expectations,? Professional Painters of Hilton Head adds.
