SLFORCE LTD, a company that provides safe personal alarms, has announced that they have recently received highly positive reviews for their personal alarms for women, children, and the elderly, on Amazon. Most of the customers who left highly positive reviews realized how helpful the device would be in attracting people's attention in the event that one is being attacked. This is vital because criminals don't want attention when doing their criminal acts. And some praised the customer service being provided by the company. The product can be accessed on Amazon through <https://www.amazon.com/SLFORCE-Personal-Alarm-Siren-Song/dp/B07BV7BRGT>.

A customer named Natalie, who gave the product 4 stars, said, "I've been trying to run every morning since my gym is closed due to corona. Everyday it's been fine but I actually had a car stop in front of me and block me purposely to ask for my number. After that I felt a little uneasy about running. This thing is loud. Like ear splitting loud. So it does the job. I would've given it 5 stars all around but it did not arrive when it said it was going to, and that's not ok especially when you need it for safety. I'm aware it has nothing to do with the seller, but Amazon.? It should be noted that this is technically a five-star review because the only reason she refrained from giving it five stars was the late delivery, which was not actually the fault of SLFORCE.

In a five-star review, a certain Jojo said, "My girlfriend loves it. Thank you for making it a reasonable price. Highly suggest!" And a certain Nancy also gave it five stars and said, "Will take it with me when I'm on walks and it makes me feel safer. Would totally recommend. it was so loud it hurt my ears!" Tara W. also gave the product a five-star rating, and said, "Great product and amazing customer service! I highly recommend this product and company. I reached out to them as we had a slight issue and it was resolved ASAP."

The SLFORCE Personal Alarm Siren Song is ideal for women, kids, students, the elderly, joggers, and more because it is based on the simple principle of attackers not wanting to attract any attention. A victim does not even have to think but can act instinctively by simply pulling the pin to activate the 130 dB alarm that is as loud as a military jet taking off. The sudden and loud alarm will likely distract the attacker and provide the victim a few seconds to flee the scene and possibly call the police.

This personal alarm device is also convenient to bring along at night or places where it is dark because it also has a built-in mini LED flashlight. It comes with a free D-ring carabiner clip to allow it to be easily attached to a bag, or backpack, or anywhere else where it can easily be accessed during those times when one is in danger or being attacked. As such, it can be an ideal gift for various occasions, including birthdays, Christmas, housewarming parties, or Black Friday.

It is important to note that its design of the victim having to pull the pin to activate the alarm prevents accidental activation. Meanwhile, it is also easy to turn off the alarm. This is done by simply inserting the pin back. It should also be noted that placing the hand over the speaker can muffle the sound while the pin is being replaced.
