

Home Champs Shows How Not To Get Locked Out Of The House With #1 New Release

September 04, 2015

September 04, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Federal Heights, Colorado based Home Champs is offering a way to ensure people would never get locked out of their homes again with its #1 new release product. The company's Hide A Key is a sprinkler head that has space for keeping spare keys, thus providing a better alternative to hiding the keys under the welcome mat or other obvious places.

The product is designed to provide a place to easily and securely hide spare home keys. Isaac Salguero, spokesperson for Home Champs, explained, "It's easy to install and looks so natural that no one will realize it's actually a place for hiding spare keys."

The bottom spike allows for easy installation on the ground and requires no digging and the product is large enough to hold spare keys, cash, or even small documents if needed. It is constructed of the same materials used to make real sprinkler heads, so it looks perfectly natural outdoors. It is designed to be durable and is waterproof, and according to Salguero, "virtually indestructible."

Ronald recently purchased the product and had this to say, "This sprinkler head hide a key is such a great idea and it blends into the yard in any landscape. We have a desert front yard but plants still require drips and sprinklers so this does not stand out as unusual. It has a very sharp point that went into the ground easily."

Home Champs provides a variety of consumer products, including a broom and mop organizer. But the company has found that their Hide a Key product is the best that they've released thus far.

Isaac adds, "We understand the plight of someone coming home and realizing he has forgotten his keys. This product solves the problem by providing an easily accessible spare key that unscrupulous people would not easily discover. We felt that this was the perfect product to bring to our customers."

More about Home Champs can be seen on the company's official website. The Hide a Key sprinkler head product is provided with a full customer satisfaction guarantee, just like every product offered by the company.

###

For more information about Home Champs, contact the company here: Home Champs Carlos Salguero 3034001682 carlos@netdirectsales.com 9360 Federal Blvd Federal Heights, CO. 80260

Home Champs

If not obvious by the title, Home Champs are the CHAMPIONS of home improvement! Bringing you brilliant, high-quality products at a low, unbeatable price!

Email: carlos@netdirectsales.com

Phone: 3034001682

Powered by PressAdvantage.com