July 30, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Dating for people living with lifelong infections can be a difficult process. This is why Meet Positives has created a dating platform for positive singles. Apart from the safe dating space provided by the website, there is a supportive community where members can share their experiences and learn how to cope with the infection. The community is made up of members who share what they know to encourage others joining the positive dating experience.

According to the site, "At Meet Positives, we are not only interested in helping you find love, but also making it last long-term. For this reason, we provide free advice and tips on how to build a strong relationship that will lead to happiness. We have created a community where you can share all of your concerns and information that you feel will help others. From this community, you will also get something in return. You will receive important details about how to handle your condition and how to live well with other positives.

"Unlike the methods used by conventional dating sites, Meet Positives uses a different approach to match men and women. We use different dimensions that are not only geared towards matching people with the same interests but also ensuring that the predictors generate long-lasting relationships. With our compatibility dimensions, you will find the perfect match within a short period of time.

"At Meet Positives, you will get more than the traditional personal ads. We pay attention to details because we want you to find a compatible match and give you a different but interesting online dating experience. This is just one of the main reasons why Meet positives is a number one online dating site for positive singles."
