August 13, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Emergency Dentist - Dental Clinic and Implant Centre, a dental practice located in Holborn, close to Tottenham Court Road, Central London, has revealed that they are offering urgent dental care services for various dental emergencies. They would like people to know that they are ready to treat emergency dental issues from early morning to late evening, every day of the week. Including bank holidays, weekends, Easter, New Year's Day, and Christmas. They are offering near 24-hour emergency dental services because they are well aware that teeth injury can happen at any time and people will certainly not want to endure severe pain for an extended period of time, but would want to get pain relief as soon as possible.

Greg Murray, a representative for Emergency Dentist - Dental Clinic and Implant Centre, says, "When you are struck with an emergency situation, then you need to get in touch with an emergency dentist. Some situations wherein you would have to get in touch with an emergency dentist are injury to teeth during your daily chores, etc."

He continues, "The first and foremost step for you to take is to go to your family physician who would recommend that you see the dentist. Meanwhile, there are instances when you or your child experiences excruciating tooth pain and it is practically impossible for you to wait till the morning. This is when the services of an emergency-dentist are required."

Those who have a broken jaw or broken teeth as a result of an accident will need to be treated immediately by an emergency dentist. Some people may also suddenly realize that their Invisalign is not in its proper position or is not working correctly. That is another instance where the services of an emergency dentist are needed. Or a person may suddenly need an emergency root canal. All of these are situations where the emergency dentist in London can be of great help.

In addition, the dentists at Emergency Dentist - Dental Clinic and Implant Centre are multilingual. They are able to speak English, Hungarian, Italian, and Polish. Aside from emergency dental services, they are also able to provide general dentistry services, cosmetic dentistry, dental implants, and orthodontics.

As part of their general dentistry services, they can offer root canal treatment, which has the purpose of saving a tooth that is badly decayed or infected. This procedure is usually done when the nerve of the tooth has been infected or the pulp has been damaged. During the root canal, the nerve and pulp of the tooth are removed and the inside of the tooth is then cleaned and sealed.

As part of their cosmetic dentistry services, they can offer invisible fillings. These are dental fillings that are used to restore teeth that have damaged by tooth decay. These tooth-coloured fillings are better looking compared to amalgam fillings. By ensuring that the colour of the filling exactly matches to natural colour of the teeth, the fillings are practically invisible.

In addition, they can also provide dental implants, which are one of the most modern ways to replace missing teeth. A dental implant functions like a tooth root to support a tooth or several teeth. It is actually a metallic post that is made from titanium alloy and has threads on one end. It is screwed into the jaw bone in a carefully chosen location. At the other end of the dental implant is an abutment where an artificial tooth or teeth can be attached. The screw part and the abutment are not visible so that the artificial tooth or teeth will look very much like natural teeth. These will also function in the same way as natural teeth, unlike dentures.

Those who are interested in learning more about the services offered by the emergency dentist in London may want to visit the Emergency Dentist - Dental Clinic and Implant Centre website, or call them on the phone.
