

St. Louis Cleaning & Restoration Emphasizes Importance Of Sanitizing Carpets And Upholstery

August 13, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

St. Louis, Missouri based St. Louis Cleaning & Restoration is reaching out to remind business owners of the importance of sanitizing carpets and upholstery as part of their ongoing COVID-19 safety measures. The company has been serving St. Louis families, businesses and corporations since 1991.

Kevin Finn of St. Louis Cleaning & Restoration says, "The COVID-19 pandemic has swept over the entire country, causing massive disruptions to the way we go about our daily lives. While a fair number of businesses have been able to transition to a work-from-home model, there are still many businesses that need to work from their office locations. To make sure that this is safe, it's important to undertake thorough cleaning procedures. While most companies do surface level cleaning, they tend to ignore their carpets and upholstery. Sanitizing your carpets and upholstery is critical and important in ensuring that the risk of COVID-19 is reduced as much as it can be. Not only does it promote a healthier work environment, it will also make employees and customers more comfortable knowing that your place of business is clean and sanitized."

According to the company, poor office building sanitization can be a prominent factor in the spread of illnesses like the coronavirus. This can be especially problematic when workstations are shared and employees have to work closely together. In addition to spreading a dangerous disease and hurting people, this will also hurt the business itself due to low morale and productivity. However, it can be countered by hiring a professional cleaning company that can clean and sanitize the entirety of an office space, including the carpets and upholstery.

While a thorough cleaning will ensure that all dirt and bacteria are eliminated, St. Louis Cleaning & Restoration says that maintaining clean carpets and upholstery also has benefits beyond health and safety. As carpets often run throughout the whole office, they are a key element that ties the office together. Having a well-maintained carpet will ensure that the overall appearance of the office will be one of excellence. Cleaning heavily used office furniture like sofas and chairs ? that often have spills, odors, dust, and ground-in dirt ? will ensure that customers have a positive perception of the business.

Since their launch in 1991, St. Louis Cleaning & Restoration has grown to be one of the most widely respected and well-known leaders in the cleaning industry. The company is known for gathering and analyzing all relevant information to develop real strategies to solve problems instead of just treating the symptoms. Their technicians are highly trained and certified with The Institute of Inspection, Cleaning & Restoration (IICRC), which is a certification and Standards Developing Organization (SDO) non-profit organization for the inspection, cleaning and restoration industries.

The services provided by St. Louis Cleaning & Restoration have earned the company a lot of praise from their clients. On the Google platform, the company has a rating of 4.6 out of 5 Stars. In her review, Pamela Putnam writes that, ?St. Louis Cleaning and Restoration has cleaned our carpets numerous times and our air ducts once. Their crew is always polite, professional and prompt. They listen to our concerns and provide valid recommendations. I would highly recommend them to anyone needing their services!?

Meanwhile, in another review, The Dive Poets share, ?After receiving several bids for our water-damaged basement carpet, St. Louis Cleaning & Restoration not only met our price-point but did so with absolute professionalism! The crew went above and beyond to make sure our house was safe, sanitized and back to normal in no time. Other companies were offering similar services (but at astronomical prices) which really only required the cutting away of some ?suspect? drywall. I cannot recommend this company enough for their value, punctuality and quality. The crew was timely, knowledgeable and efficient.?
