Thunderbird Custom Design is Now Conducting Virtual Consultations for Media Walls and Other Projects

August 21, 2020

August 21, 2020 -
In response to the current virus crisis, Thunderbird Custom Design is now conducting virtual consultations with prospective customers who are interested in having a custom-made media wall installed by them. They have chosen to do this in the interest of everyone?s safety. The company also wants their existing and prospective customers to know that despite current events, they are still going full steam ahead with installations of their wall media and other signature main living space improvement projects.

Brandon Luna, the founder of Thunderbird Custom Design, says, ?This is certainly a strange crisis that we are going through at the moment. It?s something that I never thought I would see in my lifetime. As a responsible business, we want to do our part in keeping everyone safe. That?s why we have done such things as improved our capacity to conduct virtual consultations with those that are looking to get a media wall or any other type of custom home improvement work that we do. Our crews will also be greeting customers from a distance and keeping to themselves while working on a project. So far this has been working out great and our contracts are still being completed on time or ahead of schedule.?

The company founder went on to say that his company has always prided itself on being flexible and willing to change and the current virus crises is no exception. He went on to credit that flexibility with much of the company?s success. Luna stated that the reason their custom media and entertainment wall projects have become so successful is that they have continually shaped and improved their start to finish process in the 14 years that the company has been in business. Out of that process, they have been able to create and craft projects that are so unique that they?ve even trademarked their ever-popular ?Thunderbird Wall?. He says that they are also a very progressive contractor whose design team makes it a point to keep up on the latest home interior trends.

Luna also wanted to remind people in the Phoenix, Arizona area that in addition to custom media and entertainment walls, they also provide custom stone fireplaces, audio entertainment equipment and set up, Flat-screen TV's, and much more. He says he is also happy to announce that they have now added residential cabinet building to their long list of custom home improvement projects. Custom cabinets when installed in a kitchen or other room in a home can dramatically change the looks and feel of those rooms. The company founder pointed out that the modern custom cabinets that his design team draws up are also intended to maximize storage space and make the contents of those new cabinets much easier to access.

The company?s services are also very highly regarded by those that have used them. Mike Kaler says, ?Thunderbird did a terrific job of converting our nice but very plain great room wall into a media wall, complete with fireplace. We love it. Everyone who sees it just says "wow". We have now recommended Thunderbird to at least 6 of our neighbors. In addition to their quality work, we have been impressed with their integrity and the pleasant nature of everyone on their team. The designs they provided upfront were right on the money, so much so that selecting our favorite was difficult. The end result looks just like the computer image we selected. If we decide to do another room, they will be the first and only folks that we call.? This review can be found on Thunderbird Custom Design?s Google Maps listing along with 23 other reviews that also rated this company an impressive 5 out of a possible 5-stars.

Luna added that anyone interested in getting a media wall or custom cabinets Phoenix from them, they can easily be reached by phone, email, or by filling out the form on the ?contact us? page of their website.
