DSB Products, a business in Keller, TX, is proud to announce that the Flour & Coco blog has posted an article relating the use of the Happy Cook silicone muffin pan for baking Coco's summer recipe for blueberry muffins. Flour & Coco is a blog written by Cori Larsen, who is also known as "Coco." Coco is the force behind the blog Flour & Coco, and is one of the co-founders of Heaven Cupcake alongside her husband Erik. The Happy Cook line of kitchen products which includes the silicone muffin pan, is one of DSB Products' most popular lines.

Coco's cupcake business that started in 2010 has made 3 appearances on the Food Network's Cupcake Wars. They've expanded their business from the U.S. to Mumbai, India (The Boston Cupcakery) and in addition to their Salt Lake City, Utah shop have started offering their delicious cupcakes in San Diego, California. Famous for their fried cupcake as seen on the Food Network & their delicious cream cheese frosting, Coco takes her baking seriously, and as she said "with a slice of fun on the side."

"We are so happy that Coco has found it fit to use the Happy Cook silicone muffin pan to bake her summertime blueberry muffins," says D.S. Barnett from DSB Products. "Coco Larsen and her Heaven Cupcake business is an inspiration and her business franchise is growing. Heaven Cupcake is known for their fantastic fried cupcake and other delectable recipes, and we are over the moon that she used and approved of our new silicone baking pan."

Coco herself reviewed the Happy Cook product over the summer and she designed the Summertime Blueberry Muffins recipe because it matched the season and was ideal for use of the silicone pans. The recipe and review can be viewed on the Flour & Coco blog. She used the 12 cup muffin pans, made from 100% food grade, BPA free silicone to create her muffins. Flour & Coco also highlighted the various benefits that are offered by silicone baking forms. They are easy to clean and very durable. Silicone stays clean, bright, and looking new after years of use without the discoloration, staining and rusting that is normal with metal pans. Furthermore, they come in vibrant colors, which adds a touch of fun to any kitchen. "I used these awesome silicon baking pans from Happy Cook which make muffin baking a breeze," said Coco. "If you used a silicon baking pan like I did, your clean-up will be a cinch (which is why I would highly recommend it)."

DSB Products had released their Happy Cook product line in July of this year. The Amazon product page shows that they currently offer the silicone 12 cup muffin pan. This creates standard sized cupcakes and muffins. It is made completely from silicone, which is one of the most important kitchen innovations of this era. More details about the product can be viewed at myhappycook.com. The Happy Cook product line offering on Amazon will be expanded this fall to include a 9-inch round silicone baking pan, a 6-cup silicone muffin pan, a full size Bundt pan made of silicone, and a set of silicone spatulas.
