August 25, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Sharp Tack Media, a Portland, Oregon based small business web design and branding firm, is offering a fully-featured suite of website migration services. The web design agency has experience in migrating hundreds of websites from popular formats such as WordPress, HTML, and many others. They claim to achieve the migrations with no downtime, regardless of the hosting provider.

The common reasons for migrating websites include moving the website to another hosting provider or upgrading to a different server within the current hosting provider. Such moves are usually undertaken as cost-cutting measures or to expand the scope of business due to additional storage space or bandwidth needs. Sharp Tack Media claims to migrate 100% of all the files, databases, email addresses, and any other items without any loss of data and minimal downtime.

The company claims to have mastered a WordPress migration service with no downtime. Its standard WordPress migration process is to take backups of the WordPress site, move the files, move the database, move any emails associated with the domain name, and finally update the nameservers to point to the hosting service. According to the company's website, it usually takes 48 hours or less for the migration to complete. It attributes the quick turnaround time due to its breadth of experience migrating websites between thousands of web hosts.

The company's HTML migration process includes taking a full backup of the site structure, then moving the files to the new location, migrating any databases, and finally updating the nameservers of the domain so that it points to the new web host. The company claims that HTML migrations can usually be done in 48 hours. The company also offers a forum migration service in which they conduct a full backup on the site files including the database, then they move the files and login to the site to update any forum settings that may be needed to reflect the new environment, and then finally they change the domain name nameservers to point to the new web hosting company.

Apart from the standard WordPress and HTML migration services, the company has also assisted hundreds of customers in migrating their custom web apps, custom CMS, and various other types of frameworks. The company comes up with a custom migration solution for every customer depending on the complexity of the website. The company encourages potential customers to reach out to them for a quote that is based on the scope of the migration. Sharp Tack Media has offered proven ROI-focused practical solutions for digital marketing and branding to hundreds of businesses. Their portfolio includes businesses in a wide range of industries including gyms and fitness professionals, HVAC companies, attorneys, medical offices, home services, life coaches, eCommerce stores, supplement companies, and many more. They operate with a full staff and experts in each department and have the in-house capability to handle any project from concept to launch.

The company's strategy of working for its clients is a five-step process. It begins with a consultation which is usually a 30-minute call to establish the client's goals, map the project's objectives, discuss expectations, and make small business branding suggestions about how to maximize ROI. The next step in the process is drafting the project proposal based on the client's requirements and the scope of the project. In the third step, the project enters its planning stage where the entire project is planned out, a schedule is created, and the required departments begin to coordinate to make it all come together.

In the next step, the steps outlined in the last step are executed. Regardless of the project type, this execution phase ends with a comprehensive 3 stage review and quality assurance test to make sure the project is error-free and ready for launch. The fifth and final step in the company's process is the launch phase. This phase incorporates pre-approval by the client, a launch meeting, a post-launch review, and monitoring to ensure that the client is happy with the successful launch.

The working hours of the web design agency are Monday to Friday, from 9:00 AM to 6:00 PM PST. The company can be contacted using the phone number +1-503-451-6675 or at its email at hello@sharptackmedia.com. There is also a contact form on the website to leave them a message.
